Rescuers Move In

While one rescuer pauses to rub smoke-filled eyes, a second, carrying a stretcher, moves past twisted engine mount of the British Commonwealth DC6 airliner which crashed into a mountain 25 miles south of San Francisco. Nineteen were killed: 11 passengers, 8 crew members. The plane, inbound from Australia via Honolulu, was making an instrument approach to the field because of fog when it crashed.

Marlborough Has 3 Million Gallons In Water Supply

Pipeline to River Restores Village Reservoir to Use—Had Been Exhausted

Storage of water at the Marlborough water district reservoir today reached an estimated 3,000,000 gallons as a pipeline hastily rigged between the Hudson river and the reservoir continued to supply an excess of water over the amount consumed daily.

The estimate was made by Fred S. Fowler, town supervisor, who added that the reservoir when full holds about 15,000,000 gallons.

The reservoir dried up following a prolonged rainless period, and the aid of the Kingston-Ulster Civil Defense officials was enlisted early this week to secure 2,000 feet of "invasion" pipe from stockpiles at Waterford to pump water from the river into the reservoir.

The pipe arrived Monday night and was installed on Tuesday. Pumping, at the rate of about 200 gallons a minute, began Tuesday evening.

The operation has proceeded smoothly and water storage is continuing to show a gain, Supervisor Fowler said. He attributed the gain entirely to the pumping, noting that in spite of the rainfall on Thursday the brook which normally feeds the reservoir was still dry this morning. The rainfall, he said, apparently was completely absorbed in the parched ground.

Grand Jury to Get Witnesses' Story

Federal Indictment Expect Against Hall, Woman for Kidnap-Slaying

Kansas City, Oct. 30 (AP)—The federal government today hoped to complete another legal step in its plans for speedy conviction of the kidnap-killers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Edward L. Scheufler had his final witnesses ready for appearance before a federal grand jury which has been gathering evidence on the case since Tuesday.

The jury is expected to indict 34-year-old Carl Austin Hall and his 41-year-old woman friend, Bonnie Brown Heady. Both have admitted participating in the kidnap-slaying of Bobby, son of wealthy automobile dealer Robert C. Greenlease.

Federal kidnaping charges already have been filed against Hall and Mrs. Heady, a divorcee. They also face state murder and kidnaping charges.

Hearing Another Step

Officials said the grand jury hearing was another step in developing an ironclad case against the pair.

Among yesterday's witnesses was Sandra O'Day, a blonde who spent a night with Hall in St. Louis during a wild spending spree. Hall went to St. Louis after obtaining $600,000 ransom money from Greenlease.

Miss O'Day is being held in jail here as a material witness.

During Hall's St. Louis binge, Miss O'Day told taxicab driver John Hager about seeing a "million bucks" in his luggage.

Hager, who had picked up Hall as a fare, later gave the tip to police that resulted in the kidnapers' arrests.

Hager also made a second appearance before the jury, along with Lt. Louis Shoulders who made the arrests in St. Louis.

Costello Goes Back To New York Again

Gambler Leaves His Train at Harmon; Must Stand Trial

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello returned to his old haunts today from Milan, Mich., federal prison, but he avoided newsmen waiting at Grand Central terminal by leaving his train at a stop outside the city.

Train personnel said Costello and a party of nine others left the train at Harmon, engine switching junction in Westchester county.

The gambler was released yesterday after serving about a year of his 18 months sentence for contempt of the United States Senate. Ahead of him however, are legal hurdles.

He must stand trial on four charges of income tax evasion and denaturalization proceedings.

The Costello party had a parlor car on the Detroiter all to themselves, but only because no other passengers had bought space in the car. Train men said Costello kept to himself throughout the trip.

Destination Unannounced

It was not known where he was heading after leaving the train. Before entering prison he maintained an apartment here on Central Park West and a country home at exclusive Sands Point, L. I.

Costello was met at the prison yesterday morning at 8:06 by his wife, who was accompanied by a man. He stepped into a black Cadillac which sped from the prison yard. Newsmen got only fleeting words with him on several occasions when the car was halted by traffic.

Costello must appear in court here Dec. 7 on the income tax evasion charges. Last April 23 he pleaded innocent to evading $73,417 in taxes for the years 1946 through 1949. Bail was set at $5,000. Tax liens amounting to $486,722 also have been filed against Costello and his wife.

Under terms of the bail bond Costello must remain in the southern district of New York. He would have to obtain a court order to leave this jurisdiction.

Impellitteri Says He'll Call Upon Police, Unless They Act

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri angrily threatened today to lock up milk strike negotiators in City Hall with the aid of police, if necessary, until they reach a settlement.

The walkout of milk truck drivers and plant workers in a wage-hour dispute five days ago has cut off milk supplies to 12 million people in the New York Metropolitan area.

Impellitteri issued his pronouncement after AFL Teamsters Union negotiators representing the strikers failed to appear at an 11 a. m. (EST) conference he had called at City Hall.

Industry representatives showed up at the appointed hour, but the union men had failed to appear 20 minutes later.

Impellitteri said he would give both sides "several hours" to negotiate on their own and then act if they failed to reach an agreement.

To Many Delays

"There have been too many delays and I am not tolerating further delay," the mayor told newsmen.

Terming the situation critical, Impellitteri said he decided to resort to the "lock up" plan if necessary in the interests of safeguarding the health of the children of the city.

Marathon direct negotiators between the industry and union broke off temporarily at 2:30 p. m. (EST) when the union negotiators walked out of a bargaining session.

"We're going home to sleep," Samuel J. Cohen, union attorney, told newsmen at that point.

The walkout seemed on the verge of settlement for the past two days, with federal, state and city mediators taking part in the lengthy sessions.

Roll Toward City

Yesterday, on the basis of optimistic statements issued by negotiators, fleets of big milk trucks rolled toward the city—ready to supply fresh milk for 12 million metropolitan area consumers in New York and northern New Jersey. They were stopped, however. Long-distance trucks were not involved in the walkout.

The strike began Sunday when 15,000 drivers and plant workers stopped work over their demand

Church Conference Reaches Conclusions on Five Issues

Cleveland, Oct. 30 (AP)—After three days of discussion, prayer, sermons and debate, a national church conference has reached these tentative conclusions.

1. That American-Soviet differences are "so fundamental" and "lack of confidence on both sides so deep and stubborn" that any accord "appears imposible at present."

2. That "military strength is essential" to meet the threat of Soviet totalitarianism, but aiding the spiritual and physical welfare of all men is "in the long run even more basic."

3. That "the free societies must make every effort to negotiate workable agreements without compromise of basic convictions" and seize every chance to "develop even a temporary easing of tensions."

4. That Americans as "brothers in Christ" with all peoples "must learn to accept other nations not only as partners but also as instruments of judgement on our national action."

5. That the nation must pursue programs of help to needy lands, recognizing that "plenty for the few and want for the many cannot be reconciled with the law of love."

These points are part of a 4,000-word proposed declaration, hammered out during deliberations of four separate sections and still subject to a final vote before the delegates and their conference today.

The main items, however, had been worked over and approved in representative group sessions, each including more than 100 members of the 450 delegates.

The draft message gave thumping support to the United Nations as "the basic framework through which our nation should seek its security" and work for world law as ordained by God.

PWs Agree To Attend Red Talks

Two-Week Stand Ends With Announcement by Indian Chairman of Commission

Panmunjom, Oct. 30 (AP)—Violently anti-Communist North Korean prisoners have agreed to attend Communist interviews tomorrow, ending a two-week holdout which threatened to wreck the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

"They are coming out tomorrow for explanations—so they have agreed," said Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the commission.

Five hundred North Koreans are scheduled to move out of their compounds at 8 a. m. (6 p. m. EST) for interviews with Red explainers who will try to persuade them to return home. Another 500 are to be interviewed in the afternoon.

Personal Triumph

The Koreans' decision to attend the interviews peacefully represented a solid personal triumph for patient Gen. Thimayya.

Thimayya told newsmen that after days of delicate negotiations the POW leaders indicated two days ago they were willing to attend explanations. But they asked for time to talk fellow prisoners into attending.

The commission chairman said he was notified Thursday night that the men were ready to start Saturday morning.

The NNRC promptly notified the Communist and UN commands that explanations would be held for the first time since Oct. 16.

These will be the first North Koreans to meet the Reds since the explanations started Oct. 15. On that day the Communists got back 10 of 491 Chinese interviewed

Scheduled to Appear

The North Koreans were scheduled to appear the next day, but massed for a breakout when the Indians prepared to use force to take them before the Reds.

The day after, the Communists contented themselves with Chinese again, getting back 10 of 430.

But then the interviewers stopped when the Reds demanded North Koreans—at gun point if necessary—and other members of the commission refused to approve the use of force.

The deadlock threatened to break up the five nation commission, made up of Czechs, Poles, Indians, Swiss and Swedes.

From the start Thimayya urged moderation, staved off inflammatory formal statements and worked daily with the prisoners to persuade them to go before the Communists peacefully.

His policy won Wednesday when the prisoners agreed to meet Communist agents who seek to persuade them to return to their Red-ruled homeland.

Khan Would Have Yasmin in Europe

Rita Hayworth Says She Will Resist Efforts by Ex-Husband

Les Vegas, Nev. Oct. 30 (AP)—Aly Kahn wants his and Rita Hayworth's daughter Yasmin, 3½, returned to Europe immediately because of threats against the child's life. But Rita says she'll resist all attempts to take the child from her.

The actress' attorney, Bartley Crum, said yesterday that her former husband, the Moslem prince, had cabled her he wants the child for safe-keeping "because the FBI is not adequate to protect her."

Crum said Aly remarked that Rita has received letters threatening the youngster's life unless she is reared in the Moslem faith.

Because of these threats and the problems resulting from Rita's marriage to crooner Dick Haymes, the lawyer quoted Aly, Yasmin's safety has been endangered.

In Christian Faith

Rita said she intends to rear her daughter in the Christian faith.

Meanwhile she asked Crum to prepare a legal request to Congress for "a full-scale investigation" of the deportation proceedings against her present husband.

"I have stood by and watched for two months now my husband being torn apart and crucified," the film star said. "His career has been ruined. He has been financially hurt and although he doesn't wish it, I must speak up."

Rita commented: "It seems awfully peculiar to me that the whole weight of the Justice Department, with all the problems confronting it, should suddenly be thrown against my husband for an incident which happened 10 years ago."

Justice Upholds Parole Board Policy — Will Appeal, Headquarters Says

Monticello, Oct. 30 (AP)—State Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein dismissed New York city mayoral candidate Robert F. Wagner Jr.'s "Mr. X" suit for release of secret data of the State Parole Board on labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay last night.

Wagner's Democratic campaign headquarters in New York said an appeal will be taken immediately to the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court.

A Wagner spokesman said, however, that he did not know whether decision on an appeal could be obtained before next Tuesday's New York city election.

Wagner, in a campaign move, sought to force the parole board to release the names of persons who recommended parole for Fay, AFL union power who is serving a 7½-to-15-year prison term for a $368,000 shakedown of contractors. The parole board rejected his plea for parole last January.

Upholds Policy

Bookstein, upholding the parole board's traditional policy of keeping much of its data secret, said in his decision:

"What circumstances exist which could possibly justify this court with one stroke of the pen to strike down a system which has worked so well for over three-quarters of a century?"

The decision, which turned down an application for an order forcing the parole board to allow scrunity of the names of Fay parole pleaders, also said:

"It should be obvious to all that the impartial and intelligent discharge of their duties by the Board of Parole requires it to obtain information which in many instances it can only obtain upon the assurance that such information is confidential. The entire penal and parole system would surely be jeopardized by violating such a well-established principle."

Made Campaign Charge

The court case grew out of a campaign statement by Wagner two weeks ago that among those urging a parole for Fay was "one of the most important men in the United States—a national figure whose every word and action carry tremendous weight throughout the country." Wagner said this individual—who became popularly known as "Mr. X"—had been a close associate of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, a Republican.

Both Dewey and the parole board, which rejected Wagner's demand for release of the names, denied that any such person as described by Wagner had interceded with them in behalf of Fay.

Wagner has rejected demands of mayoralty opponents that he identify "Mr. X."

Bookstein heard arguments in the case here last Tuesday.

Order Is Approved

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi announced today approval of a revised retail trade minimum wage order which will bring pay hikes to 42,000 workers. The new minimum hourly wage rates are 75 cents in New York city (zone 1); 70 cents in Nassau and Westchester counties and communities with a population over 10,000 (zone 2), and 65 cents for the remainder of the state (zone 3). The old minimum of 52½ cents was state wide. The new order goes into effect Dec. 30. It was based on the majority recommendation of a wage board convened last February.

Girl on Plane Gets Single Red Rose

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Queen Frederika of Greece, returning to Egypt from a trip to South Africa to see her husband during their World War 2 exile, was unhappy and lonely.

Two American soldiers on the same plane, she recounted yesterday to Theodore F. Koop, president of the National Press Club, saw her in tears and tried to cheer her up.

She never learned their names, she said, and didn't tell them who she was.

When the Queen arrived in New York Wednesday she was handed a florist's box, she told Koop, and inside was a single red rose and this note:

"To the girl on the plane."

Miss Soar, English beauty queen, who, according to reports is suffering from Bright's disease, a kidney ailment, and Sgt. Moxham plan to marry soon at St. Mary's Church. Their romance is a typical boy meets girl story. They met in England while standing in line for a movie. Sgt. Moxham is now stationed at Westover Field and following the marriage the sergeant and his wife will make their home at that air force installation. (Associated Press photo)

Hatfield Sees Small Chance For Newburgh Span Priority

Vols Will Patrol City Fire Boxes

Halloween Pranksters to Be Watched; Cooperation Is Requested

Volunteer firemen will act tomorrow to prevent Halloween pranksters from turning in false alarms and starting fires in leaves.

Members of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association discussed the proposal at a meeting last night in the engine house of Union Hose Company and decided that the night would offer opportunity for older volunteers, who do not answer fire calls, to patrol the city's fire boxes and to stop the burning of leaves.

Officers and members of the association asked that parents of the city cooperate with the plan and suggested they pass the word along to their children and bid for their cooperation.

It was proposed at the session that this plan be effective also on election night and as much as it can be the year around.

The volunteers stressed that the sounding of a false alarm sets into motion $50,000 to $75,000 worth of equipment, and both paid and volunteer firemen risk their lives.

Banker Dies at 84

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 30 (AP)—Thomas Ross Preston, 84, former president of the American Bankers Assn., died in his home today.

Dutchess Senator Says What Happens Now Is Up to State Bridge Unit

State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield foresees "little chance" of legislation that would push the Newburgh-Beacon bridge construction ahead of the Kingston-Rhinecliff project, the Newburgh News said yesterday.

Whatever is to be done about the bridges now, the senator indicated, rests with the New York State Bridge Authority.

The senator said he has confidence in Harry Cohen, Newburgh publisher, who is the newest member of the bridge authority, in representing the interests of his area, but noted that the bridge bills were the results of demands by constituents of legislators rather than by the legislators themselves.

Favored Kingston Span

The senator said he had sent out cards prior to his introduction of a bill on the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge to get his constituents' reaction, and those returned "were very much in favor."

Hatfield said he had received no complaints from Beacon or Newburgh, to date, and added: "They have at present two ferries while Kingston has very poor ferry service."

Dutchess County Assemblyman R. W. Pomeroy, in recent statements indicated he would act to repeal a law which forbids construction of the Newburgh-Beacon bridge until the one here is finished.

Army Parade Will Honor Retiring General M. W. Clark

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Tall, lanky Mark Wayne Clark, just one day away from doffing his general's uniform, draws a final salute today from the army he served more than 36 years—in glory and in controversy.

The last senior U. S. commander of World War 2 to end his active duty career, the 57-year-old soldier is being honored this afternoon (4:30 p. m., EST) with a parade and reception at Washington's Ft. McNair.

The army band, units from the 3rd Infantry Regiment and a saluting battery of field guns are taking care of the formal field honors. A reception at the Ft. McNair Officers Club follows, with Army Vice Chief of Staff Gen. Charles L. Bolte acting as host in the absence of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, army chief of staff.

Diplomatic, congressional, military and civil defense officials have been invited.

Clark's career, from his West Point graduation in 1917 to his formal retirement tomorrow, brought his command of combat troops during two World Wars and the fight against Communist aggression in Korea.

It also brought him many decorations and much glory—as well as the center spots in two onceraging disputes, one military, the other religious.

It was just about two years ago that former President Truman named Clark ambassador to the Vatican—thereby bringing on a storm of protest that did not abate until the appointment was withdrawn.

Seven years earlier, during three bloody days at the Rapido river in Italy, Clark gave an order which has been heatedly criticized. In his own defense, Clark called the order a "calculated risk" and said he would give it again under the same circumstances.

His order, as 5th Army commander in January 1944, sent the 36th Infantry Division from Texas in a spearhead attack across the river toward German and Italian forces. The division was badly mauled. The attack failed.

Texans and the 36th Division Association of Veterans bitterly blamed Clark and questioned his military ability. But then Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said the Rapido attack was necessary.

U.S. Agrees To Request For Review

Envoy's Optimism Not Ruffled—They Insist Conference Makeup Be Settled First

Panmunjom, Oct. 30 (AP)—Communist diplomats today called an American proposal for setting up the Korean Peace Conference "absurd . . a trick . . absolutely unacceptable" and pushed preliminary talks deeper into deadlock.

Although the Red refusal was less caustic than usual, they made it clear their answer was no to U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean's plan to fix a time and place for the conference now and talk about its composition later.

Unruffled by the Red rejection, Dean agreed to a Communist request that he think over their views. The meeting recessed until 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m. EST Friday).

Would Determine Makeup

The Communists insisted that composition of the conference be decided before anything else. They have proposed that five non-belligerents—Russia, India, Burma, Pakistan, Indonesia—sit in on the conference.

The allies have stood firm so far by their plan that the conference include only the nations which have fought in Korea, plus Russia if the Chinese and North Koreans invite her.

Meanwhile, stubborn, anti-Red Korean war prisoners broke another, longer deadlock by agreeing to listen to Communist efforts to persuade them to come home.

The unyielding Red stand on the peace conference discussions did not seem to mar Dean's optimism.

'Better Attitude' Shown

He told newsmen after the 52-minute session that despite the lack of progress at this fifth meeting there was "generally a better attitude in the discussions."

A spokesman for the Dean mission said: "The temperature was lowered a great deal today."

This was in sharp contrast to the angry words the Communists hurled at Dean Thursday.

At Friday's meeting Dean suggested the dispute over admission of non-belligerents might be tossed to the conference itself.

But he repeated that he is willing to exchange views on composition if agreement first is reached on a time and place.

The American lawyer told the

General Says Reds Have 400 Planes At Korean Fields

Tokyo, Oct. 30 (AP)—The chief of South Korea's air force said today the Communists have spirited 400 fighter planes into North Korea in violation of the armistice and based them at 30 newly-repaired airfields.

Lt. Gen. Choi Young Duk told newsmen "the North Korean air force now has two divisions of MIGs and another division of propeller-driven craft south of the Manchurian border."

He said the Reds have another 2,000 warplanes in Manchuria, about two-thirds of them MIGs.

Choi stopped here en route to the United States where he will tour air force installations and confer with military officials.

The Kurean truce signed last July 27 bans the movement of planes into Korea except as replacements. The armistice does not restrict the repair and construction of airfields.

Most Were Unusable

In the case of North Korea, Coi said, incessant bombings during the war had made most Red airfields unusable and Communist planes were based north of the Yalu river boundary between North Korea and Manchuria.

But as soon as the truce went into effect the Reds quickly repaired 10 major airfields and 20 secondary landing strips and spirited in the planes, Choi said.

The UN command had complained to the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission that the Reds have shipped warplanes into North Korea in violation of the truce.

An inspection team was instructed to investigate the complaint, but no final report has been filed.

Earlier, the 5th Air Force reported tracking on radar Communist planes flying southward into North Korea immediately after the armistice went into effect.

Marlborough Has 3 Million Gallons In Water Supply

Pipeline to River Restores Village Reservoir to Use—Had Been Exhausted

Storage of water at the Marlborough water district reservoir today reached an estimated 3,000,000 gallons as a pipeline hastily rigged between the Hudson river and the reservoir continued to supply an excess of water over the amount consumed daily.

The estimate was made by Fred S. Fowler, town supervisor, who added that the reservoir when full holds about 15,000,000 gallons.

The reservoir dried up following a prolonged rainless period, and the aid of the Kingston-Ulster Civil Defense officials was enlisted early this week to secure 2,000 feet of "invasion" pipe from stockpiles at Waterford to pump water from the river into the reservoir.

The pipe arrived Monday night and was installed on Tuesday. Pumping, at the rate of about 200 gallons a minute, began Tuesday evening.

The operation has proceeded smoothly and water storage is continuing to show a gain, Supervisor Fowler said. He attributed the gain entirely to the pumping, noting that in spite of the rainfall on Thursday the brook which normally feeds the reservoir was still dry this morning. The rainfall, he said, apparently was completely absorbed in the parched ground.

Mayor Threatens Milk Negotiators

Costello Goes Back To New York Again

Gambler Leaves His Train at Harmon; Must Stand Trial

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello returned to his old haunts today from Milan, Mich., federal prison, but he avoided newsmen waiting at Grand Central terminal by leaving his train at a stop outside the city.

Train personnel said Costello and a party of nine others left the train at Harmon, engine switching junction in Westchester county.

The gambler was released yesterday after serving about a year of his 18 months sentence for contempt of the United States Senate. Ahead of him however, are legal hurdles.

He must stand trial on four charges of income tax evasion and denaturalization proceedings.

The Costello party had a parlor car on the Detroiter all to themselves, but only because no other passengers had bought space in the car. Train men said Costello kept to himself throughout the trip.

Destination Unannounced

It was not known where he was heading after leaving the train. Before entering prison he maintained an apartment here on Central Park West and a country home at exclusive Sands Point, L. I.

Costello was met at the prison yesterday morning at 8:06 by his wife, who was accompanied by a man. He stepped into a black Cadillac which sped from the prison yard. Newsmen got only fleeting words with him on several occasions when the car was halted by traffic.

Costello must appear in court here Dec. 7 on the income tax evasion charges. Last April 23 he pleaded innocent to evading $73,417 in taxes for the years 1946 through 1949. Bail was set at $5,000. Tax liens amounting to $486,722 also have been filed against Costello and his wife.

Under terms of the bail bond Costello must remain in the southern district of New York. He would have to obtain a court order to leave this jurisdiction.

More Electricity

Troy, Oct. 30 (AP)—In 32 years, the nation's electricity output has increased ten-fold to meet demands of mass-production factories and appliance-rich homes, a leader in electrical industry said today.

Impellitteri Says He'll Call Upon Police, Unless They Act

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri angrily threatened today to lock up milk strike negotiators in City Hall with the aid of police, if necessary, until they reach a settlement.

The walkout of milk truck drivers and plant workers in a wage-hour dispute five days ago has cut off milk supplies to 12 million people in the New York Metropolitan area.

Impellitteri issued his pronouncement after AFL Teamsters Union negotiators representing the strikers failed to appear at an 11 a. m. (EST) conference he had called at City Hall.

Industry representatives showed up at the appointed hour, but the union men had failed to appear 20 minutes later.

Impellitteri said he would give both sides "several hours" to negotiate on their own and then act if they failed to reach an agreement.

To Many Delays

"There have been too many delays and I am not tolerating further delay," the mayor told newsmen.

Terming the situation critical, Impellitteri said he decided to resort to the "lock up" plan if necessary in the interests of safeguarding the health of the children of the city.

Marathon direct negotiators between the industry and union broke off temporarily at 2:30 p. m. (EST) when the union negotiators walked out of a bargaining session.

"We're going home to sleep," Samuel J. Cohen, union attorney, told newsmen at that point.

The walkout seemed on the verge of settlement for the past two days, with federal, state and city mediators taking part in the lengthy sessions.

Roll Toward City

Yesterday, on the basis of optimistic statements issued by negotiators, fleets of big milk trucks rolled toward the city—ready to supply fresh milk for 12 million metropolitan area consumers in New York and northern New Jersey. They were stopped, however. Long-distance trucks were not involved in the walkout.

The strike began Sunday when 15,000 drivers and plant workers stopped work over their demand

Vols Will Patrol City Fire Boxes

Halloween Pranksters to Be Watched; Cooperation Is Requested

Volunteer firemen will act tomorrow to prevent Halloween pranksters from turning in false alarms and starting fires in leaves.

Members of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association discussed the proposal at a meeting last night in the engine house of Union Hose Company and decided that the night would offer opportunity for older volunteers, who do not answer fire calls, to patrol the city's fire boxes and to stop the burning of leaves.

Officers and members of the association asked that parents of the city cooperate with the plan and suggested they pass the word along to their children and bid for their cooperation.

It was proposed at the session that this plan be effective also on election night and as much as it can be the year around.

The volunteers stressed that the sounding of a false alarm sets into motion $50,000 to $75,000 worth of equipment, and both paid and volunteer firemen risk their lives.

Banker Dies at 84

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 30 (AP)—Thomas Ross Preston, 84, former president of the American Bankers Assn., died in his home today.

Dutchess Senator Says What Happens Now Is Up to State Bridge Unit

State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield foresees "little chance" of legislation that would push the Newburgh-Beacon bridge construction ahead of the Kingston-Rhinecliff project, the Newburgh News said yesterday.

Whatever is to be done about the bridges now, the senator indicated, rests with the New York State Bridge Authority.

The senator said he has confidence in Harry Cohen, Newburgh publisher, who is the newest member of the bridge authority, in representing the interests of his area, but noted that the bridge bills were the results of demands by constituents of legislators rather than by the legislators themselves.

Favored Kingston Span

The senator said he had sent out cards prior to his introduction of a bill on the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge to get his constituents' reaction, and those returned "were very much in favor."

Hatfield said he had received no complaints from Beacon or Newburgh, to date, and added: "They have at present two ferries while Kingston has very poor ferry service."

Dutchess County Assemblyman R. W. Pomeroy, in recent statements indicated he would act to repeal a law which forbids construction of the Newburgh-Beacon bridge until the one here is finished.

Army Parade Will Honor Retiring General M. W. Clark

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Tall, lanky Mark Wayne Clark, just one day away from doffing his general's uniform, draws a final salute today from the army he served more than 36 years—in glory and in controversy.

The last senior U. S. commander of World War 2 to end his active duty career, the 57-year-old soldier is being honored this afternoon (4:30 p. m., EST) with a parade and reception at Washington's Ft. McNair.

The army band, units from the 3rd Infantry Regiment and a saluting battery of field guns are taking care of the formal field honors. A reception at the Ft. McNair Officers Club follows, with Army Vice Chief of Staff Gen. Charles L. Bolte acting as host in the absence of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, army chief of staff.

Diplomatic, congressional, military and civil defense officials have been invited.

Clark's career, from his West Point graduation in 1917 to his formal retirement tomorrow, brought his command of combat troops during two World Wars and the fight against Communist aggression in Korea.

It also brought him many decorations and much glory—as well as the center spots in two once-raging disputes, one military, the other religious.

It was just about two years ago that former President Truman named Clark ambassador to the Vatican—thereby bringing on a storm of protest that did not abate until the appointment was withdrawn.

Seven years earlier, during three bloody days at the Rapido river in Italy, Clark gave an order which has been heatedly criticized. In his own defense, Clark called the order a "calculated risk" and said he would give it again under the same circumstances.

His order, as 5th Army commander in January 1944, sent the 36th Infantry Division from Texas in a spearhead attack across the river toward German and Italian forces. The division was badly mauled. The attack failed.

Texans and the 36th Division Association of Veterans bitterly blamed Clark and questioned his military ability. But then Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said the Rapido attack was necessary.

Grand Jury to Get Witnesses' Story

Federal Indictment Expect Against Hall, Woman for Kidnap-Slaying

Kansas City, Oct. 30 (AP)—The federal government today hoped to complete another legal step in its plans for speedy conviction of the kidnap-killers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Edward L. Scheufler had his final witnesses ready for appearance before a federal grand jury which has been gathering evidence on the case since Tuesday.

The jury is expected to indict 34-year-old Carl Austin Hall and his 41-year-old woman friend, Bonnie Brown Heady. Both have admitted participating in the kidnap-slaying of Bobby, son of wealthy automobile dealer Robert C. Greenlease.

Federal kidnaping charges already have been filed against Hall and Mrs. Heady, a divorcee. They also face state murder and kidnaping charges.

Hearing Another Step

Officials said the grand jury hearing was another step in developing an ironclad case against the pair.

Among yesterday's witnesses was Sandra O'Day, a blonde who spent a night with Hall in St. Louis during a wild spending spree. Hall went to St. Louis after obtaining $600,000 ransom money from Greenlease.

Miss O'Day is being held in jail here as a material witness.

During Hall's St. Louis binge, Miss O'Day told taxicab driver John Hager about seeing a "million bucks" in his luggage.

Hager, who had picked up Hall as a fare, later gave the tip to police that resulted in the kidnapers' arrests.

Hager also made a second appearance before the jury, along with Lt. Louis Shoulders who made the arrests in St. Louis.

Interest in Angles

The government had indicated it would conclude its case before

Church Conference Reaches Conclusions on Five Issues

Cleveland, Oct. 30 (AP)—After three days of discussion, prayer, sermons and debate, a national church conference has reached these tentative conclusions.

1. That American-Soviet differences are "so fundamental" and "lack of confidence on both sides so deep and stubborn" that any accord "appears imposible at present."

2. That "military strength is essential" to meet the threat of Soviet totalitarianism, but aiding the spiritual and physical welfare of all men is "in the long run even more basic."

3. That "the free societies must make every effort to negotiate workable agreements without compromise of basic convictions" and seize every chance to "develop even a temporary easing of tensions."

4. That Americans as "brothers in Christ" with all peoples "must learn to accept other nations not only as partners but also as instruments of judgement on our national action."

5. That the nation must pursue programs of help to needy lands, recognizing that "plenty for the few and want for the many cannot be reconciled with the law of love."

These points are part of a 4,000-word proposed declaration, hammered out during deliberations of four separate sections and still subject to a final vote before the delegates and their conference today.

The main items, however, had been worked over and approved in representative group sessions, each including more than 100 members of the 450 delegates.

The draft message gave thumping support to the United Nations as "the basic framework through which our nation should seek its security" and work for world law as ordained by God.

Khan Would Have Yasmin in Europe

Rita Hayworth Says She Will Resist Efforts by Ex-Husband

Les Vegas, Nev. Oct. 30 (AP)—Aly Kahn wants his and Rita Hayworth's daughter Yasmin, 3½, returned to Europe immediately because of threats against the child's life. But Rita says she'll resist all attempts to take the child from her.

The actress' attorney, Bartley Crum, said yesterday that her former husband, the Moslem prince, had cabled her he wants the child for safe-keeping "because the FBI is not adequate to protect her."

Crum said Aly remarked that Rita has received letters threatening the youngster's life unless she is reared in the Moslem faith.

Because of these threats and the problems resulting from Rita's marriage to crooner Dick Haymes, the lawyer quoted Aly, Yasmin's safety has been endangered.

In Christian Faith

Rita said she intends to rear her daughter in the Christian faith.

Meanwhile she asked Crum to prepare a legal request to Congress for "a full-scale investigation" of the deportation proceedings against her present husband.

"I have stood by and watched for two months now my husband being torn apart and crucified," the film star said. "His career has been ruined. He has been financially hurt and although he doesn't wish it, I must speak up."

Rita commented: "It seems awfully peculiar to me that the whole weight of the Justice Department, with all the problems confronting it, should suddenly be thrown against my husband for an incident which happened 10 years ago."

Would Deport Haymes

Girl on Plane Gets Single Red Rose

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Queen Frederika of Greece, returning to Egypt from a trip to South Africa to see her husband during their World War 2 exile, was unhappy and lonely.

Two American soldiers on the same plane, she recounted yesterday to Theodore F. Koop, president of the National Press Club, saw her in tears and tried to cheer her up.

She never learned their names, she said, and didn't tell them who she was.

When the Queen arrived in New York Wednesday she was handed a florist's box, she told Koop, and inside was a single red rose and this note:

"To the girl on the plane."

General Says Reds Have 400 Planes At Korean Fields

Tokyo, Oct. 30 (AP)—The chief of South Korea's air force said today the Communists have spirited 400 fighter planes into North Korea in violation of the armistice and based them at 30 newly-repaired airfields.

Lt. Gen. Choi Young Duk told newsmen "the North Korean air force now has two divisions of MIGs and another division of propeller-driven craft south of the Manchurian border."

He said the Reds have another 2,000 warplanes in Manchuria, about two-thirds of them MIGs.

Choi stopped here en route to the United States where he will tour air force installations and confer with military officials.

The Kurean truce signed last July 27 bans the movement of planes into Korea except as replacements. The armistice does not restrict the repair and construction of airfields.

Most Were Unusable

In the case of North Korea, Coi said, incessant bombings during the war had made most Red airfields unusable and Communist planes were based north of the Yalu river boundary between North Korea and Manchuria.

But as soon as the truce went into effect the Reds quickly repaired 10 major airfields and 20 secondary landing strips and spirited in the planes, Choi said.

The UN command had complained to the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission that the Reds have shipped warplanes into North Korea in violation of the truce.

An inspection team was instructed to investigate the complaint, but no final report has been filed.

Earlier, the 5th Air Force reported tracking on radar Communist planes flying southward into North Korea immediately after the armistice went into effect.

Witnesses Testify For Defendant in Auto Crash Case

Witnesses called on behalf of the defendant Elwyn Dennis testified in Supreme Court this morning in the $75,000 action brought by Miss Marie Trowbridge against Dennis and Leon Serpentine, an action in which she seeks to recover damages for injuries suffered a year ago when the Serpentine car struck Miss Trowbridge and Millard Cox near the junction of route 17 and 302 outside Middletown. Cox also seeks damages for injuries.

Gerald M. Berry, a sailor, operator of a truck coming north on 302 said he saw the parked car of Dennis and alongside burning rags when he approached. He was opposite the Dennis car when the Serpentine car struck it about the rear. At the time there was a red light on the side of the stock car. He said he secured a flashlight from someone and went up the road to flag down traffic after the accident.

Selah Haddan who lives near the scene at Circleville observed burning rags thrown from the stock car as it was parked on the road. He heard the crash and went to the scene. He observed someone with a flashlight after the crash. He had not noticed any lights prior to that.

Says He Gave Warning

Samuel W. Devine, Jr., a Marine Corps member who accompanied Cox testified a red light had been lighted on the stock car at Walker Valley. On the way down he could observe the light for 300 to 400 feet to the rear. He said after the cars stopped he had assisted in removing the burning rags from the stock racer and was stamping out the fire and waving a flashlight in a circular motion to warn traffic coming from the rear when the crash took place. Prior to the time the Serpentine car struck the parked car two or three cars passed the parked cars which were on the southbound lane of the two-strip road. After the crash he paced off tire marks for a distance of 70 feet back from the parked cars and also for a distance of about 150 feet on the shoulder and grass. These marks led to the Serpentine car. In addition to a red light on the side of the stock car a large luminous numeral five was painted on the rear of the stock car. The flashlight had been given Devine by Mrs. Markle who was a passenger in the Dennis car along with her husband and Miss Trowbridge.

Dennis had testified a red light was burning on the stock car when he stopped to extinguish a fire in the stock car which he was towing.

The grand jury was scheduled to make its report to Justice Taylor at 2 p. m.

U. S. Makes Request

United Nations, Oct. 30 (AP)—The United States today formally asked the UN General Assembly to take up its charges that Communists in Korea committed atrocities against American and allied captives. The request was contained in a letter from chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. The letter merely asked that the item be put on the assembly's agenda. It was not accompanied by an explanatory memorandum telling why.

Blinding Lights at 5 Cited as Crash Cause

The unusual report of a driver attributing an accident to blinding headlights of an approaching car at 5 o'clock in the afternoon was filed with state police of the Ellenville station during the dark and stormy weather on Thursday.

Troopers said that was the cause given for an accident in which the automobile driven by Everett Bell, 46, of Wawarsing, ran off the west side of Route 209 at Kerhonkson and struck an advertising sign. Bell was arrested on a charge of unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, pleaded guilty and was fined $10, troopers said. No personal injuries were reported.

Expects Disaster

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 30 (AP)—James P. Warburg, banker who was once economic adviser to President Roosevelt, later an Office of War Information official and subsequently a writer on foreign affairs, sees America's European policy—especially in relation to Germany—headed for "disaster." He says it could end in the United States and Britain fighting for survival under terrifying conditions. In a new book "Germany —Key to Peace" (Harvard University Press) Warburg calls upon the western powers to seek patiently and sincerely a just all-German settlement which would include re-union and demilitarization.

Dies of Wreck Injuries

Newburgh, Oct. 30 (AP)—Frank Kimler, 37-year-old fireman, of Hamden, Conn., injured in the New Haven Railroad freight wreck at East Walden early Wednesday, died today in St. Luke's Hospital. Another railroad man, head brakeman Frank Woznick, of Maybrook, was hurt as 53 box cars of two trains left their rails. He has been discharged from a hospital. Leslie Tyler, a New Haven public relations official, said the wreck resulted from a broken rail. The eastbound track has been cleared and approved for limited operations at five miles an hour. The railroad expects to have the westbound track operating on the same basis by late today.

Weill came to Europe as manager of middleweight Ernie Durando who knocked out the French idol Charlie Humez, a week ago.

Two Speakers Put Emphasis on How Experience Helps

In political talks, Thursday night, Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly and District Attorney Howard C. St. John stressed the advantages of experience and training in running government, and called for election of the local Republican slate next Tuesday.

Kelly, seeking re-election for his third term, said, "I have always tried to be fair and impartial to the members of the Common Council, irrespective of their party."

He stressed that "Any citizen who has come before the Common Council during the time I have been presiding officer has been allowed the privilege of the floor."

Kelly asked the voters to consider his experience of four years in the Common Council when they cast their votes for alderman-at-large.

Agrees With Engineers

Referring to the sale of Reservoir No. 1, unused since 1926, Kelly said he would go along with the advice of consulting engineers to the water board, who advised that "this abandoned" and "polluted" source of water be sold.

Kelly said the Summer street dump, a campaign issue for the past 20 years had been closed since June 1952, covered up and sealed. He invited an inspection of the site by the public.

The Alderman-at-Large answered his opponents remarks about expenditure of funds on the city incinerator chimney as follows:

"He tries to make a distinction between capital improvements and maintenance, although it is obvious to anyone that the work that was done was in the nature of a capital improvement.

"When the incinerator was built years ago, it was not expected that the volume of combustibles to be burned in the incinerator would reach its present large proportions. A single lining, therefore, was put in the chimney. However, the volume has so increased over the years that the temperatures in the combustion chamber and stack rose so high that the lining was burned out. It therefore became necessary to enlarge the lining and shortly thereafter, it was decided to install an additional flue. Both of these expenditures are a capital improvement.

Costs Prohibitive

"The Democratic candidate wants to know why the city did not do any further and additional work on making an addition to the incinerator. I refer him to the annual message of Mayor Newkirk to the Common Council of January 1, 1953, in which he said 'due to the high cost of construction, it seems inadvisable to continue the enlargement of the city incinerator at this time. The present method used to dispose of the city refuse is working satisfactorily and, with very little additional cost, the system now in use can continue to serve the needs of the city for some time.'

"The Democratic candidate for alderman-at-large is an alderman, and never voiced any protest against the policy announced by the mayor until now, a few days before election when he finds he disagrees with it for his own political purposes.

"In conclusion, let me state that it is my firm and sincere belief the city of Kingston has been governed well under your Republican administrations . . . On the one hand, the interests of the taxpayers must be considered. On the other hand, the interest of everyone in the community of making worthwhile and beneficial city expenditures must be also considered. The task of your city administration has been to give you the best possible government under budgetary limitations and to see that you got your money's worth for every dollar collected from taxes.

Points to Stang's Service

"We are indeed privileged and fortunate in having a man of the capability of Fred Stang willing to serve you and me and all of the people of our city as its mayor," said District Attorney St. John in urging the election of the Republican candidate.

"It may have been indicated by Fred's opponents that Fred would not devote a full measure of time and effort as our chief executive.

"During the past 20 years Fred has ably served us in a great many capacities. He has acted as the clerk of the board of supervisors, the legislative body of our county.

"He served with distinction as assistant district attorney for six years, and for the past seven years has made an outstanding county attorney.

All during that long period of public service no one has ever been able to charge that Fred Stang has permitted personal convenience to transcend his public duty.

"He has always given to every public job that he has ever held a full measure of devotion, time, effort and ability.

Has Proper Training

"If a lawyer meets big business's requirements as its chief executive, shouldn't a lawyer meet your qualifications as the manager of your city affairs?

"We need a man trained in government, experienced in government, to be our mayor.

"The only way we can secure these qualifications is by voting for Fred Stang, Republican candidate for the office of mayor."

FBI Duties, He Says

Boston, Oct. 30 (AP) — Massachusetts Episcopal Bishop Norman B. Nash thinks some congressional committees are "usurping the duties of the FBI, the attorney general and such bodies." He told a news conference yesterday he spoke as an American citizen. Bishop Nash said he felt Sen. Jenner "exaggerated" the danger of Communist infiltration.

Announcer Is Named

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—A Senate Internal Security subcommittee counsel said today that atom spy Harry Gold has linked a former American radio announcer for the Russian UN section with a Soviet spy ring. The subcommittee counsel, Robert Morris, said the announcer is Alexander Svenchansky, 44, dismissed from the United Nations staff for refusing to say if he ever had been a member of the Communist party. Morris said Gold gave a sworn affidavit about Svenchansky in federal penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pa., where he is serving a 30-year prison term as a co-conspirator of Julius Rosenberg, the executed atom spy.

Would Sell Painting

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—A Winston Churchill painting left by President F. D. Roosevelt to his son, Elliott, is for sale at $7,500, according to Hammer Galleries. The canvas, "Tower of Katoubia Mosque," is hanging in the office of the galleries here. An official of the galleries said it has been for sale about a year but has not been advertised. The official said the prime minister executed the canvas at Marrakech in North Africa while resting after the wartime Casablanca conference. He said it was presented to the late President around Christmas, 1943.

Grand Jury to Get the jury late Wednesday. The additional days of testimony, principally from St. Louis witnesses, indicated the jury was showing special interest in the St. Louis aspects of the case.

When Hall and Mrs. Heady were apprehended in St. Louis Oct. 7, only half the ransom money was recovered.

The whereabouts of the additional $300,000 still is a mystery. Hall claimed it was lost during a drinking spree.

Among witnesses scheduled to testify today were Elmer Dolan, a St. Louis patrolman who served as chauffeur for Lt. Shoulders the night the arrests were made, and Barney Patton, a St. Joseph, Mo., attorney and an acquaintance of Hall.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—A higher trend in the stock market persisted today despite some mild profit-taking in scattered sections of the list.

Gains ran to around a point at the outside. Losses were small, but most stocks with minus signs were relatively inactive.

A rush of trading at the opening soon died down and thereafter the tape chattered along at a moderate speed. The pace of business was somewhat less than yesterday's above average 1,610,000 shares.

Profit-taking today was a natural sequence to yesterday's strength. In addition the market was faced with the customary weekend selling.

Railroads were higher along with most steels, utilities, oils, rubbers, and distillers. Quite a few minus signs appeared in chemicals, motors, and coppers.

Bethlehem Steel, which just before the close yesterday reported the highest nine months earnings in its history, opened today on a block of 2,000 shares up ¼ at 51¾, and it continued at that price in moderate trading. It was up ¼ yesterday.

Bethlehem Steel Has $9.25 Share Earnings

New York, Oct. 30 (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 2 steel producer, is rushing into 1953's final quarter at 104 per cent of its rated production capacity and with a fat earnings record of $9.25 a share behind it for the past nine months.

"We see no reason why operations should change to any extent, certainly for the balance of this year," said Board Chairman Eugene G. Grace following yesterday's third quarter directors' meeting.

Grace said a nationwide check of Bethlehem's sales forces found them optimistic.

"We expect good business throughout next year," he said.

Mrs. Smith Started Memorable Time

Philadelphia, Oct. 30 (AP)—Mother and baby are doing nicely—but the rest of the family. . . . Oh!

Mrs. Stanley Smith, 21, started it all off by telling her husband she was going to have her baby in a little while. Smith took it from there.

He and friend Anthony Luke took off in Luce's convertible to get a doctor.

Too late, the baby arrived—so Smith's brother, Charles, took off in his car to get Smith. He found him at the doctor's office, delivered the message and started back home. Halfway there he collided with a Reading Railroad freight train.

Along came Stanley and Luce in the other car and brother Charles hopped in and away they went—for two blocks, where Luce's machine collided with an oil truck, then with a tractor trailer, then caught fire.

Police and firemen arrived, extinguished the blaze, and saw brother Charles off to Northeast Hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries.

P.S. It was a girl.

Reds Reject . . .

Reds, in soothing words that by negotiating first on the "simpler subjects" like time and place the rival delegates might "create more harmonious working relations."

Could Deal With Controversy

"In this way," Dean said, "the two sides could deal with the complex controversy over peace conference membership in a more favorable atmosphere."

He told the Reds: "We do not know each other very well. If we were to negotiate on simpler subjects we might learn we could get along together."

The North Korean foreign ministry representative, Ki Sok Box, asked for a 15-minute recess, but, "we can find nothing new" in Dean's remarks.

Then the Communist spokesman opened his attack on Dean's plan and demanded once again that the question of inviting neutrals to the peace table be the first order of business.

Mayor Threatens

for a $15 weekly wage increase and a 35-hour work week instead of 40 hours.

Fresh milk supplies were exhausted almost immediately in retail stores and restaurants. Milk depots ran out on Tuesday. But plenty of powdered and evaporated milk has been available.

Dairy farmers estimate the walkout is costing them $250,000 a day, forcing them to divert their product to less profitable milk by-products such as butter and cheese.

The original industry wage offer had been $2.50 more weekly.

After the deadlock was announced, an industry attorney said the companies had upped their offer to $6.50 but the strikers now seek a package increase of $12.50 weekly. Wages range from $82 to $125 a week.

Argument Adjourned

Wardens Uncover Deer-Jack Ring

Hackettstown, N. J., Oct. 30 (AP)—Game wardens from New Jersey and New York have uncovered what they said was a two-state deer-jacking ring operated by Chinese celery farmers.

These farmers, said New Jersey's chief Game Warden Frederick Craig, used teenagers as hunters.

Craig said yesterday that three Chinese farmers in the nearby Great Meadows area have been arrested and jailed as ringleaders.

Three other arrests were disclosed and Craig said more were expected.

The ring, Craig said, had been operating at least three years and had been under investigation for some time.

The three farm hands pleaded guilty to charges of possessing wild deer out of season. Each was fined $200 and $23 court costs, and sent to jail for 90 days in lieu of the fines.

Police identified the three as Lee Ngon, Loy Wong and Chin Mon Sing.

Wrapped in Crates

Six game wardens from New Jersey and New York arrested the trio yesterday and found two deer quartered and dressed, wrapped and packed in celery crates at the farm house.

This is how the ring operated, according to Craig:

Teenagers were hired to shoot deer out of season in the Great Meadow area and bring them to the farm, where the animals were dressed and crated in celery boxes. The boxes were shipped to New York on produce trucks along with crates of celery.

Once in New York, the boxes were distributed through a Chinese laundry to restaurants. The teenagers were paid about 20 cents a pound for their deer. Craig said he believed the New York laundryman also had been arrested.

Ballots Are Cast

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Both President and Mrs. Eisenhower already have cast their ballots in the New York municipal elections to be held on Tuesday. Press Secretary James Hagerty said today he could not divulge how they voted but added with a smile: "It would be no breach of the ballot to say that they both registered Republican." Today was the deadline for the filing of absentee ballots.

Witnesses Testify For Defendant in Auto Crash Case

Witnesses called on behalf of the defendant Elwyn Dennis testified in Supreme Court this morning in the $75,000 action brought by Miss Marie Trowbridge against Dennis and Leon Serpentine, an action in which she seeks to recover damages for injuries suffered a year ago when the Serpentine car struck Miss Trowbridge and Millard Cox near the junction of route 17 and 302 outside Middletown. Cox also seeks damages for injuries.

Gerald M. Berry, a sailor, operator of a truck coming north on 302 said he saw the parked car of Dennis and alongside burning rags when he approached. He was opposite the Dennis car when the Serpentine car struck it about the rear. At the time there was a red light on the side of the stock car. He said he secured a flashlight from someone and went up the road to flag down traffic after the accident.

Selah Haddan who lives near the scene at Circleville observed burning rags thrown from the stock car as it was parked on the road. He heard the crash and went to the scene. He observed someone with a flashlight after the crash. He had not noticed any lights prior to that.

Says He Gave Warning

Samuel W. Devine, Jr., a Marine Corps member who accompanied Cox testified a red light had been lighted on the stock car at Walker Valley. On the way down he could observe the light for 300 to 400 feet to the rear. He said after the cars stopped he had assisted in removing the burning rags from the stock racer and was stamping out the fire and waving a flashlight in a circular motion to warn traffic coming from the rear when the crash took place. Prior to the time the Serpentine car struck the parked car two or three cars passed the parked cars which were on the southbound lane of the two-strip road. After the crash he paced off tire marks for a distance of 70 feet back from the parked cars and also for a distance of about 150 feet on the shoulder and grass. These marks led to the Serpentine car. In addition to a red light on the side of the stock car a large luminous numeral five was painted on the rear of the stock car. The flashlight had been given Devine by Mrs. Markle who was a passenger in the Dennis car along with her husband and Miss Trowbridge.

Dennis had testified a red light was burning on the stock car when he stopped to extinguish a fire in the stock car which he was towing.

The grand jury was scheduled to make its report to Justice Taylor at 2 p. m.

United Nations, Oct. 30 (AP)—The United States today formally asked the UN General Assembly to take up its charges that Communists in Korea committed atrocities against American and allied captives. The request was contained in a letter from chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. The letter merely asked that the item be put on the assembly's agenda. It was not accompanied by an explanatory memorandum telling why.

Blinding Lights at 5 Cited as Crash Cause

The unusual report of a driver attributing an accident to blinding headlights of an approaching car at 5 o'clock in the afternoon was filed with state police of the Ellenville station during the dark and stormy weather on Thursday.

Troopers said that was the cause given for an accident in which the automobile driven by Everett Bell, 46, of Wawarsing, ran off the west side of Route 209 at Kerhonkson and struck an advertising sign. Bell was arrested on a charge of unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, pleaded guilty and was fined $10, troopers said. No personal injuries were reported.

Expects Disaster

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 30 (AP)—James P. Warburg, banker who was once economic adviser to President Roosevelt, later an Office of War Information official and subsequently a writer on foreign affairs, sees America's European policy—especially in relation to Germany—headed for "disaster." He says it could end in the United States and Britain fighting for survival under terrifying conditions. In a new book "Germany —Key to Peace" (Harvard University Press) Warburg calls upon the western powers to seek patiently and sincerely a just all-German settlement which would include re-union and demilitarization.

Another railroad man, head brakeman Frank Woznick, of Maybrook, was hurt as 53 box cars of two trains left their rails. He has been discharged from a hospital. Leslie Tyler, a New Haven public relations official, said the wreck resulted from a broken rail. The eastbound track has been cleared and approved for limited operations at five miles an hour. The railroad expects to have the westbound track operating on the same basis by late today.

Weill came to Europe as manager of middleweight Ernie Durando who knocked out the French idol Charlie Humez, a week ago.

Two Speakers Put Emphasis on How Experience Helps

In political talks, Thursday night, Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly and District Attorney Howard C. St. John stressed the advantages of experience and training in running government, and called for election of the local Republican slate next Tuesday.

Kelly, seeking re-election for his third term, said, "I have always tried to be fair and impartial to the members of the Common Council, irrespective of their party."

He stressed that "Any citizen who has come before the Common Council during the time I have been presiding officer has been allowed the privilege of the floor."

Kelly asked the voters to consider his experience of four years in the Common Council when they cast their votes for alderman-at-large.

Agrees With Engineers

Referring to the sale of Reservoir No. 1, unused since 1926, Kelly said he would go along with the advice of consulting engineers to the water board, who advised that "this abandoned" and "polluted" source of water be sold.

Kelly said the Summer street dump, a campaign issue for the past 20 years had been closed since June 1952, covered up and sealed. He invited an inspection of the site by the public.

The Alderman-at-Large answered his opponents remarks about expenditure of funds on the city incinerator chimney as follows:

"He tries to make a distinction between capital improvements and maintenance, although it is obvious to anyone that the work that was done was in the nature of a capital improvement.

"When the incinerator was built years ago, it was not expected that the volume of combustibles to be burned in the incinerator would reach its present large proportions. A single lining, therefore, was put in the chimney. However, the volume has so increased over the years that the temperatures in the combustion chamber and stack rose so high that the lining was burned out. It therefore became necessary to enlarge the lining and shortly thereafter, it was decided to install an additional flue. Both of these expenditures are a capital improvement.

Costs Prohibitive

"The Democratic candidate wants to know why the city did not do any further and additional work on making an addition to the incinerator. I refer him to the annual message of Mayor Newkirk to the Common Council of January 1, 1953, in which he said 'due to the high cost of construction, it seems inadvisable to continue the enlargement of the city incinerator at this time. The present method used to dispose of the city refuse is working satisfactorily and, with very little additional cost, the system now in use can continue to serve the needs of the city for some time.'

"The Democratic candidate for alderman-at-large is an alderman, and never voiced any protest against the policy announced by the mayor until now, a few days before election when he finds he disagrees with it for his own political purposes.

"In conclusion, let me state that it is my firm and sincere belief the city of Kingston has been governed well under your Republican administrations . . . On the one hand, the interests of the taxpayers must be considered. On the other hand, the interest of everyone in the community of making worthwhile and beneficial city expenditures must be also considered. The task of your city administration has been to give you the best possible government under budgetary limitations and to see that you got your money's worth for every dollar collected from taxes.

Points to Stang's Service

"We are indeed privileged and fortunate in having a man of the capability of Fred Stang willing to serve you and me and all of the people of our city as its mayor," said District Attorney St. John in urging the election of the Republican candidate.

"It may have been indicated by Fred's opponents that Fred would not devote a full measure of time and effort as our chief executive.

"During the past 20 years Fred has ably served us in a great many capacities. He has acted as the clerk of the board of supervisors, the legislative body of our county.

"He served with distinction as assistant district attorney for six years, and for the past seven years has made an outstanding county attorney.

All during that long period of public service no one has ever been able to charge that Fred Stang has permitted personal convenience to transcend his public duty.

"He has always given to every public job that he has ever held a full measure of devotion, time, effort and ability.

Has Proper Training

"If a lawyer meets big business's requirements as its chief executive, shouldn't a lawyer meet your qualifications as the manager of your city affairs?

"We need a man trained in government, experienced in government, to be our mayor.

"The only way we can secure these qualifications is by voting for Fred Stang, Republican candidate for the office of mayor."

FBI Duties, He Says

Boston, Oct. 30 (AP) — Massachusetts Episcopal Bishop Norman B. Nash thinks some congressional committees are "usurping the duties of the FBI, the attorney general and such bodies." He told a news conference yesterday he spoke as an American citizen. Bishop Nash said he felt Sen. Jenner "exaggerated" the danger of Communist infiltration.

Why We Say--

It will surprise quite a few school children to know that the word school is derived from the Greek word "schole" which meant leisure . . . The first schools in Greece were attended by people of the leisure classes who wanted to improve their minds.

Awards will be gift certificates and money furnished by the following organizations and individuals:

Ulster Voiture La Societe 40 & 8; Kingston Shrine Club, Kingston Patrolmen's Association, Canfield Supply Company, Robert R. Rodie, Bev Anderson, James Matthews and Montgomery Ward Company.

The parade will be led by Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps in comical costumes, proceeding from the uptown starting point down Broadway to Delaware avenue, where the marchers will be joined by downtown children about 7:45 p. m. for the march back to the auditorium.

Announcer Is Named

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—A Senate Internal Security subcommittee counsel said today that atom spy Harry Gold has linked a former American radio announcer for the Russian UN section with a Soviet spy ring. The subcommittee counsel, Robert Morris, said the announcer is Alexander Svenchansky, 44, dismissed from the United Nations staff for refusing to say if he ever had been a member of the Communist party. Morris said Gold gave a sworn affidavit about Svenchansky in federal penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pa., where he is serving a 30-year prison term as a co-conspirator of Julius Rosenberg, the executed atom spy.

Would Sell Painting

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—A Winston Churchill painting left by President F. D. Roosevelt to his son, Elliott, is for sale at $7,500, according to Hammer Galleries. The canvas, "Tower of Katoubia Mosque," is hanging in the office of the galleries here. An official of the galleries said it has been for sale about a year but has not been advertised. The official said the prime minister executed the canvas at Marrakech in North Africa while resting after the wartime Casablanca conference. He said it was presented to the late President around Christmas, 1943.

Grand Jury to Get the jury late Wednesday. The additional days of testimony, principally from St. Louis witnesses, indicated the jury was showing special interest in the St. Louis aspects of the case.

When Hall and Mrs. Heady were apprehended in St. Louis Oct. 7, only half the ransom money was recovered.

The whereabouts of the additional $300,000 still is a mystery. Hall claimed it was lost during a drinking spree.

Among witnesses scheduled to testify today were Elmer Dolan, a St. Louis patrolman who served as chauffeur for Lt. Shoulders the night the arrests were made, and Barney Patton, a St. Joseph, Mo., attorney and an acquaintance of Hall.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—A higher trend in the stock market persisted today despite some mild profit-taking in scattered sections of the list.

Gains ran to around a point at the outside. Losses were small, but most stocks with minus signs were relatively inactive.

A rush of trading at the opening soon died down and thereafter the tape chattered along at a moderate speed. The pace of business was somewhat less than yesterday's above average 1,610,000 shares.

Profit-taking today was a natural sequence to yesterday's strength. In addition the market was faced with the customary weekend selling.

Railroads were higher along with most steels, utilities, oils, rubbers, and distillers. Quite a few minus signs appeared in chemicals, motors, and coppers.

Bethlehem Steel, which just before the close yesterday reported the highest nine months earnings in its history, opened today on a block of 2,000 shares up ¼ at 51⅜, and it continued at that price in moderate trading. It was up ¼ yesterday.

Bethlehem Steel Has $9.25 Share Earnings

New York, Oct. 30 (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 2 steel producer, is rushing into 1953's final quarter at 104 per cent of its rated production capacity and with a fat earnings record of $9.25 a share behind it for the past nine months.

"We see no reason why operations should change to any extent, certainly for the balance of this year," said Board Chairman Eugene G. Grace following yesterday's third quarter directors' meeting.

Grace said a nationwide check of Bethlehem's sales forces found them optimistic.

"We expect good business throughout next year," he said.

Mrs. Smith Started Memorable Time

Philadelphia, Oct. 30 (AP)—Mother and baby are doing nicely—but the rest of the family. . . . Oh!

Mrs. Stanley Smith, 21, started it all off by telling her husband she was going to have her baby in a little while. Smith took it from there.

He and friend Anthony Luke took off in Luce's convertible to get a doctor.

Too late, the baby arrived—so Smith's brother, Charles, took off in his car to get Smith. He found him at the doctor's office, delivered the message and started back home. Halfway there he collided with a Reading Railroad freight train.

Along came Stanley and Luce in the other car and brother Charles hopped in and away they went—for two blocks, where Luce's machine collided with an oil truck, then with a tractor trailer, then caught fire.

Police and firemen arrived, extinguished the blaze, and saw brother Charles off to Northeast Hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries.

P.S. It was a girl.

Reds Reject . . .

Reds, in soothing words that by negotiating first on the "simpler subjects" like time and place the rival delegates might "create more harmonious working relations."

Could Deal With Controversy

"In this way," Dean said, "the two sides could deal with the complex controversy over peace conference membership in a more favorable atmosphere."

He told the Reds: "We do not know each other very well. If we were to negotiate on simpler subjects we might learn we could get along together."

The North Korean foreign ministry representative, Ki Sok Box, asked for a 15-minute recess, but, "we can find nothing new" in Dean's remarks.

Then the Communist spokesman opened his attack on Dean's plan and demanded once again that the question of inviting neutrals to the peace table be the first order of business.

Mayor Threatens

for a $15 weekly wage increase and a 35-hour work week instead of 40 hours.

Fresh milk supplies were exhausted almost immediately in retail stores and restaurants. Milk depots ran out on Tuesday. But plenty of powdered and evaporated milk has been available.

Dairy farmers estimate the walkout is costing them $250,000 a day, forcing them to divert their product to less profitable milk by-products such as butter and cheese.

The original industry wage offer had been $2.50 more weekly.

After the deadlock was announced, an industry attorney said the companies had upped their offer to $6.50 but the strikers now seek a package increase of $12.50 weekly. Wages range from $82 to $125 a week.

Argument Adjourned

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Argument was adjourned today until Nov. 16 on a motion by Mrs. Bettine Field Bruce, daughter of multi-millionaire Marshall Field, to take her 9-year-old daughter by a previous marriage to England to join her Negro husband.

Wardens Uncover Deer-Jack Ring

Hackettstown, N. J., Oct. 30 (AP)—Game wardens from New Jersey and New York have uncovered what they said was a two-state deer-jacking ring operated by Chinese celery farmers.

These farmers, said New Jersey's chief Game Warden Frederick Craig, used teenagers as hunters.

Craig said yesterday that three Chinese farmers in the nearby Great Meadows area have been arrested and jailed as ringleaders.

Three other arrests were disclosed and Craig said more were expected.

The ring, Craig said, had been operating at least three years and had been under investigation for some time.

The three farm hands pleaded guilty to charges of possessing wild deer out of season. Each was fined $200 and $23 court costs, and sent to jail for 90 days in lieu of the fines.

Police identified the three as Lee Ngon, Loy Wong and Chin Mon Sing.

Wrapped in Crates

Six game wardens from New Jersey and New York arrested the trio yesterday and found two deer quartered and dressed, wrapped and packed in celery crates at the farm house.

This is how the ring operated, according to Craig:

Teenagers were hired to shoot deer out of season in the Great Meadow area and bring them to the farm, where the animals were dressed and crated in celery boxes. The boxes were shipped to New York on produce trucks along with crates of celery.

Once in New York, the boxes were distributed through a Chinese laundry to restaurants. The teenagers were paid about 20 cents a pound for their deer. Craig said he believed the New York laundryman also had been arrested.

Ballots Are Cast

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Both President and Mrs. Eisenhower already have cast their ballots in the New York municipal elections to be held on Tuesday. Press Secretary James Hagerty said today he could not divulge how they voted but added with a smile: "It would be no breach of the ballot to say that they both registered Republican." Today was the deadline for the filing of absentee ballots.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 30, 1953

FOUR-YEAR TERM

At the general election Tuesday, November 3 eligible voters of the City of Kingston will have the opportunity of voting on Local Proposition No. A, which if approved would make the term of office four years instead of two years for mayor, alderman-at-large and the aldermen of the various wards of the city.

In the interest of more efficient government, which should result from doubling the term of these offices, we recommend approval of the proposition.

Communities which have had notable successes in municipal government administration are those which have had long-range planning. Successful business enterprises likewise have been the result of long-range planning. The business of the city is one of the largest in the community and should receive the benefit of planning and development for a period longer than two years.

When the chief executive of the city and the local lawmakers circumscribe their thinking and planning to the year after next when they will go again before the people and ask them to vote for them, the taxpayers who make possible the business of the city are being short changed.

With a four-year term, the mayor and the city councilmen can familiarize themselves with the problems at hand and those anticipated in the future and lay the groundwork for their solution. Under a term of office restricted to two years, the chances of effective planning are very slim and especially when a large portion of the short term must be devoted to political thinking and acting.

We believe it is good business to give the chief executive of a city and the aldermen an opportunity to arrange and organize a program covering four years.

The four-year term has been adopted in many cities throughout the state. We believe it is time that Kingston amended its charter for a four-year term for mayor, alderman-at-large and aldermen.

Pluralities may help sometimes on a questionable matter, but mere number does not in itself make right. Obviously, even if five hundred people insisted that two and two was five, it still would remain only what it is.

HALLOWEEN

The annual Halloween parade and program sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Department will be held Saturday evening. The parade headed by the Port Ewen Drum Corps and the 40 and 8 Locomotive will leave Academy Green at 7 o'clock and proceed to the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, where the program will be staged.

Parents should encourage their children to participate in this program and enjoy it to the fullest in a delightful and agreeable manner.

Most of the old forms of violence and destruction have gone out of favor with the young folks, who have been impressed by their parents that acts of vandalism is a serious offense.

With the full cooperation of the parents, we will be able to enjoy the Halloween celebration free from disorderly acts. Marking business places, soaping windows in homes, stores and automobiles are violations of the law and children should be so warned by their parents.

If you can't forgive your enemies in daily life, at least turn your back and ignore them.

CANDY AND CAVITIES

The American Dental Association declared recently that banning the sale of candy and soft drinks in school zones would be a boon to parents who dole out lunch money to their youngsters only to learn that the money is spent for sweets. There can be several bad results from excessive use of sweets. Candy has food value but it is an inadequate substitute for more substantial foods. Too much candy can also help the insidious progress of dental cavities. The same is true of soft drinks.

Maybe banning the sale of candy in school zones would help. But it can never be the whole answer. A positive approach, educating youngsters in the fact that a sensible diet is more appetizing as well as more healthful, is also needed. Children should learn that like many other good things in life, sweets used in moderation are beneficial and satisfying but used immoderately they can be harmful.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CARNIVAL OF MURDER

Alexander Orlov worked in the Supreme Court of Soviet Russia; he became a diplomat and was the Russian counter-intelligence chief in Spain during the Spanish Civil War. He was in the OGPU (NKVD). In Spain, he was adviser to the Spanish Republican government on matters relating to counter-intelligence and guerrilla warfare behind the enemy lines.

When he saw that many who had been Stalin's colleagues and whose loyalty was unquestionable were being murdered, he escaped before his number came up. For many years, he has been in hiding.

Alexander Orlov has now written a most valuable book, "The Secret History of Stalin's Crimes," which has been published by Random House. It is an objective report, written about men he knew and worked with, whom he characterizes with intimacy and understanding.

He establishes the authenticity of his material in this and subsequent paragraphs:

"I have written down the directives which Stalin personally gave to the NKVD chiefs at the conferences in the Kremlin; his instructions to the NKVD inquisitors on methods of breaking the resistance of Lenin's friends and extorting from them false confessions. I have recorded Stalin's personal negotiations with some of his victims and the words actually spoken by the doomed men behind the walls of the Lubianka Prison. I obtained these closely guarded secrets from the NKVD interrogators themselves, some of whom had, in the past, been subordinate to me. Among them was my former assistant Mironov, chief of the Economic Administration of the NKVD, who had been one of Stalin's chief aides in the preparation of the Moscow trials and Boris Berman, deputy chief of the Foreign Department of the NKVD."

The character of Stalin stands out like a horrible, frightening nightmare; this man was devoid of all moral qualities. He killed his wife; he hated his eldest son, who disappeared in Germany during World War II; he killed his brother-in-law; he killed his two most intimate personal friends; he killed his political associates; he killed the men who did the killing for him, Yagoda and Yezhov; he killed the women and children of the families of the men he killed.

Names, dates, trials, purges, conversations, reports, all are given in this book with a calm objectivity that becomes a profile of the debasement of human nature.

The impression that I got from reading this book is that all of Stalin's murders were unnecessary, even from self-interest, and therefore could only have been the product either of a disordered, homosexual mind, or that the man lived in such fears that he could assuage them only by constant self-convincing acts of torture and murder.

One of his instruments was Andrei Vishinsky, now the Soviet representative at the United Nations, to whose dastardly ability Dr. Charles W. Mayo called attention in his brilliant United Nations speech. Orlov and Vishinsky worked together in the Supreme Court. Vishinsky, who attacks our country regularly with filthy venom, was, in his younger years, a bootlicker, and apple polisher, a vindictive careerist. And the facts are given in detail.

I know Orlov. Some day he ought to write a book on the Spanish Civil War, particularly the part played by Americans in the Abraham Lincoln Brigade. This story has never been told in full. Also, it would be of great value to have him make a comparison between the espionage and counter-intelligence methods used by Soviet Russia and the United States. The Russians have done such a magnificent job in the United States, infiltrating our government and the institutions of our people, stealing our atom bomb and our radar developments, that the pattern of work ought to be described to our people.

It is not often that one of Orlov's experience lives long enough to come over to our side. Gouzenko, who exposed the spy ring in Canada, and Kravchenko, who provided some data on the spy ring in the United States, while their contributions were of value, never attained as high positions or such intimate personal relations as Orlov. And they did not know Stalin Today, other men like Alexander Orlov are in hiding in various parts of the world. They might be encouraged, if they see what Orlov has done, to fill in some of the blank spaces in this carnival of murder.

CURBING APPETITE TO REDUCE WEIGHT

In trying to reduce weight in an overweight, the most successful method is the use of a prescribed reducing diet of about 1,200 calories daily. By using this diet in patients who required 1,500 to 1,800 calories daily, these patients gave up 300 to 600 calories daily for the food needs of their body. One of the ways of helping the overweight with a big appetite is the use of drugs to reduce appetite so that the overweight is not tempted to eat more than the 1,200 calories daily diet. Of course, if he or she feels weak by use of this submaintenance diet, he is advised to eat one or two lumps of sugar or a piece of candy to keep up strength until the next meal.

In the book Endocrine Treatment in General Practice, written by a group of nutritionists and gland specialists (endocrinologists), edited by Max A. and Joseph W. Goldziehser, it is stated that enforcement of strict cooperation is essential. Patients can be helped to control the appetite by frequent meals, preferably five times a day. Five meals can be arranged by a snack between breakfast and lunch and a snack between lunch and dinner.

When it is necessary to curb the appetite in addition to these snacks midmorning and midafternoon, the use of the drug amphetamine and amphetamine preparation (Benzedrine sulfate, Dexedrine) is usually effective. "Benzedrine is used in doses of 5 to 10 mg. two or three times a day: morning, noon and early afternoon." As these appetite-curbing drugs may cause sleeplessness, the use of phenobarbital in doses of ¼ to ½ grain is usually prescribed. This method of reducing weight by curbing the appetite is the same method as that of treating alcoholism, 5 to 10 mg. of the drug after breakfast and after lunch, and the use of phenobarbital at bedtime to induce a restful sleep after the physical and mental boost given by amphetamine during the day.

Just as some cannot curb their appetite for food, other overweights cannot curb their thirst. Two simple methods are suggested for cutting down on liquids (which maintain and increase weight); (1) adding a little lemon juice to the water, and (2) using a small glass (jigger-one ounce) instead of the usual-sized glass.

I sometimes think we write too much and too often about the reducing diet, although it is the best and safest method of reducing weight, when physicians could help these overweights to curb their appetite. As mentioned before very often, "You can't get fat on food you do not eat."

His Ace in the Hole

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA)—The statement that "no liquor is being served in private or public functions at the White House," made by Dr. Caradine H. Hooton, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, has brought an explanation from Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary.

"Ordinarily, the refreshments served at White House functions are nonalcoholic. The only exception are toasts to the President or the heads of foreign governments. Because of long-established diplomatic protocols, toasts are drunk in wine."

White House staff members contend, however, that even the champagne punch served at the major functions is still the greatest boost for temperance ever devised. It has no identifiable spike at all.

If this "dry law" is now in effect at the White House, it represents a change. Some of the big shots who attended those mysterious stag dinners given earlier this year by President Eisenhower reported afterwards that cocktails were served.

The Bard, Perchance

There's one as yet unidentified Washington policeman who has developed a new technique of talking to John Q. Public. Two reports have come in on him, but both traffic-code violators have been so startled by his novel approach that they failed to get his number.

A man who stopped his automobile in a "No-Parking" zone to take a picture at the Washington Zoo was hailed by this officer from his cruise car with:

"Good afternoon, sir. Could we prevail upon you to park your vehicle in a slightly more legal manner?"

A motorcycle courier, flagged over to the curb for going a little too fast in downtown traffic, was flabbergasted by the query, apparently from this same officer:

"Whither away?" To conflagration, perchance?"

Second Thought

Signor Alberto Tarachino, Italy's ambassador to Washington, has always been known as a friendly and talkative diplomat. But when he came out of a State Department conference on the ticklish Trieste situation the other day, he obviously wasn't in a talking mood.

He tried to brush through the crowd of reporters waiting for him. But in the corridor, where he was forced to wait for an elevator, reporters surrounded him.

"I have only one thing to say," he declared in desperation. He swallowed hard and then added, "I have nothing to say."

Brush Is Showing

White House photographers are still grumbling at the rough treatment they got at President Eisenhower's Hershey, Pa., birthday-party celebration.

Most of the blame was put on Band Leader Fred Waring, who earlier had tangled, then made peace, with the reporters following his threat not to allow them to use their typewriters.

Waring, who was in charge of the entertainment, laid down so many do's and don'ts for photographers that they were unable to get any decent shots of the festivities.

At one point when photographers tried to picture the President helping Mrs. Eisenhower out of the Dutch buggy, Waring moved in, shouting, "Move back. Move back! I've got a show to put on." Pennsylvania state troopers then brushed everyone out of the way.

Help Wanted

Top Republican administrators have decided that one of the big needs in the federal service today is more men who are experts on the technique of government procedures and management. At Department of Commerce a study is under way to try to analyze just what it takes to be a good government administrator.

When Uncle Sam determines from the Commerce study just what the personality and talent specialties are for a good government boss, big recruiting campaigns will be launched to get such individuals on the federal payroll.

Scotch Laird Offers Grain to Abandoned Mill

Long ago large landowners used to keep up mills for the purpose of the small landlords, farmers and others getting their corn ground. For this privilege the lord of the mill, by act of Parliament, was entitled to a tax called "Thirlage," which was usually paid in grain. This tax is still being exacted in various parts of Scotland. A few years ago the Laird of Blairhead resisted the claim for money for this tax. His defense was that the mill was no longer in use. The court, however, decided that he was still liable. And so the phantom tax is still being paid.

Voters Desired Efficiency, Economy, Now Protests Are Arising in Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 30—When the American people voted the Eisenhower administration into power nearly a year ago, they expressed a desire to eliminate waste in government and get efficiency. But when the present regime starts to put into effect a reorganization of bureaus—even though Congress has approved—protests arise. They come largely from vested interests—those that want to see certain jobs or certain expenditures continued irrespective of their merits.

Thus, the secretary of agriculture, Ezra T. Benson, finds himself attacked merely because, in seeking, for example, to improve the soil conservation service for the farmer, he eliminates a few federal jobs and places more responsibility on the state conservation units than on the regional offices.

One would think from the clamor raised—and it begins to look as if certain interests are manufacturing drives and caravans for political purposes—that something drastic was being done to the conservation service or that the secretary was proceeding arbitrarily.

Yet the facts are that he submitted his broad reorganization plan to Congress through the President last July, and the Congress agreed to it. Were the reorganization proposals fully discussed beforehand? The answer is that the secretary of agriculture consulted in advance the Senate and House Agricultural Committees, the Senate and House Appropriations Committees, representatives of all the principal farm organizations, such as the National Farmers' Union, the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Council of Farm Cooperatives. But, in addition to these, he talked with officials of the National Association of Soil Conservation districts and various advisory groups inside and outside the government.

From none of these came objections, but now comes a counter-attack from some of those groups whose jobs may be affected—a small number, but evidently a powerful one in stimulating objections.

To meet that kind of bombardment, Secretary Benson has sent a letter to the boards of supervisors of all soil conservation districts, declaring that, "because of the great amount of confusion caused by the wide dissemination of false and misleading information," he has prepared a set of questions and answers for their information.

"These plans," says Mr. Benson, "propose certain changes in the soil conservation service organizational structure to improve services to the districts. There is no intent to dissolve or destroy the service, nor to change our relationship to the soil conservation districts. It has never been our intention to place the soil conservation service or any of its functions in the argicultural extension service."

Mr. Benson added that he had told all this to the congressional committees and that he has always regarded the continuance of the soil conservation service as very important.

What then causes the row? It was the proposal to abolish regional offices and place on each state conservation office the responsibility, now in regional offices, to assist the farmer in meeting his conservation problems. The state offices are to be strengthened by the inclusion of technical personnel, including a state conservation engineer, a soil scientist and a soil conservationist. In addition, other specialists will be brought in, and no change in the existing technical personnel is to be made, the secretary says, because most of them will be transferred to the states and to Washington.

But there will be lesser personnel who will be released. The same thing is happening throughout the government. The administration feels it has a mandate from the people to do away with jobs that can be eliminated and money saved. But every time there is a cutdown, the persons affected or their anonymous spokesmen start a protest. The people generally want their taxes reduced. Uncle Sam doesn't owe anybody a lifetime job in a bureau of the government. And if the present administration can get the necessary work done by fewer jobholders, the American people will be happy—and the protests will be drowned out by the applause.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is serious danger that Robert F. Wagner, Jr., the son of the bumbling old faker whose name was attached to the Wagner Act, will be elected mayor of New York. Wagner has been challenged to say whether he would permit Mike Quill, the president of the Transport Workers' Union, to organize a union of New York policemen. In that case, Quill would control the department, most of the old, seasoned uniformed executives would take their pensions and retire, and there might be a repetition in New York of policemen's strikes and terrible riots which occurred in Boston and Liverpool soon after World War 1. At best the cops would be handcuffed in any riotous troubles with any union in a markedly turbulent time.

Wagner is not very bright but he has behind him both Tammany and the Fabian Socialist organization called Americans for Democratic Action, a political parasite. Wagner insists that a policemen's strike would be unthinkable, but then he pulls the rug from under himself by insisting, of course, that he recognizes the right of all workers to join unions, including specifically policemen.

There is no defined line on Quill's politics with reference to communism. Mrs. Bella Dodd, a Catholic of Italian parents, who joined the party but finally cut loose to oppose it, has given some information. She said that in 1937 and 1938 the international party decided to go after Catholic workers and, in New York, seized upon Quill, a native of Ireland, with a mushy brogue, as one who would be likely to rise to power. Accordingly, Mrs. Dodd said, a party functionary called a "contact" was assigned to attend Quill as a political "guide." Mrs. Dodd doubted that Quill ever joined the party but said that from the party's standpoint it was sufficient that its influence should dominate the politics and sympathies of a large element of industrious workers of Irish stock and Catholic religion. Most of Quill's subjects can be thus described.

During the war, Quill and Joe Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, also of the CIO, were the two most belligerent followers of the party line in the CIO. Curran wrote that the war had been an imperial aggression by Britain, France and Poland until Hitler struck Russia in June, 1941. Thereupon it became a people's war for democracy. Then Curran began to harangue for a second front in France to save the lives of Russian soldiers, at the cost of one American soldier's life, more or less, for every Russian life that was saved. Curran was safely deferred by his draft board on the representation of his union that he was essential to the union's activity in the "war effort." Curran controlled the union's actions so, in effect, he wrote his own exemption even when he was bawling for teen-age American boys to throw themselves at the German fortifications to save the lives of Russians.

Since the war, Curran and Quill have been vaguely represented as anti-Communists.

On Dec. 18, 1944, the Associated Press reported that the Greater New York Council of the CIO had voted to establish a "standing army" to be on call "for picketing and mass demonstrations." At the same meeting, Quill was elected president of the council, succeeding Curran. The proposal of an "army" to do the bidding of the council closely resembled the brown shirt tactics of the early Nazis. The secretary-treasurer of the council was Saul Mills, a notorious member of the Communist party. He had been active in the newspaper guild and later he made a Communist mission to China. In a speech at this meeting Mills said the executive board had "come to the conclusion that a standing army of several thousand members should be on hand to respond to any call for picketing or other activity."

Quill's interpretation of "other activity" by a "standing army" of the CIO has been indicated by alarming harassments of the people such as slow-downs of the bus-drivers in the most trying weather. He received encouragement from both LaGuardia and O'Dwyer, but Vincent Impellitteri fought him and beat him in direct issues, including his attempt to dragoon the cops into the transport workers' union under the violent principles demonstrated in many places.

Harold Riegelman, the Republican nominee, like Impellitteri, has rejected the proposition of a police force subject to the orders of a union boss who so recently organized a "standing army" for "mass demonstrations, picketing and other activity," or of any other union.

On Aug. 15, 1951, 600 policemen, voting as delegates of 130 police benevolent associations in the state and city of New York, passed a resolution stating that Quill's background was closely akin to the Communist ideology and charging him with fifth-column tactics in his effort to get control of the police. The resolution said he was trying to arouse conflict between labor and the cops.

Wagner has the backing of Senator Herbert Lehman and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who is warming up to challenge Tom Dewey for the governorship next year. As a stooge of ADA, Wagner also has the support of Eleanor Roosevelt. She and Dave Dubinsky actually have two candidates going, both endorsed by the ADA. The other is Rudolph Halley.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 30, 1953

FOUR-YEAR TERM

At the general election Tuesday, November 3 eligible voters of the City of Kingston will have the opportunity of voting on Local Proposition No. A, which if approved would make the term of office four years instead of two years for mayor, alderman-at-large and the aldermen of the various wards of the city.

In the interest of more efficient government, which should result from doubling the term of these offices, we recommend approval of the proposition.

Communities which have had notable successes in municipal government administration are those which have had long-range planning. Successful business enterprises likewise have been the result of long-range planning. The business of the city is one of the largest in the community and should receive the benefit of planning and development for a period longer than two years.

When the chief executive of the city and the local lawmakers circumscribe their thinking and planning to the year after next when they will go again before the people and ask them to vote for them, the taxpayers who make possible the business of the city are being short changed.

With a four-year term, the mayor and the city councilmen can familiarize themselves with the problems at hand and those anticipated in the future and lay the groundwork for their solution. Under a term of office restricted to two years, the chances of effective planning are very slim and especially when a large portion of the short term must be devoted to political thinking and acting.

We believe it is good business to give the chief executive of a city and the aldermen an opportunity to arrange and organize a program covering four years.

The four-year term has been adopted in many cities throughout the state. We believe it is time that Kingston amended its charter for a four-year term for mayor, alderman-at-large and aldermen.

Pluralities may help sometimes on a questionable matter, but mere number does not in itself make right. Obviously, even if five hundred people insisted that two and two was five, it still would remain only what it is.

HALLOWEEN

The annual Halloween parade and program sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Department will be held Saturday evening. The parade headed by the Port Ewen Drum Corps and the 40 and 8 Locomotive will leave Academy Green at 7 o'clock and proceed to the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, where the program will be staged.

Parents should encourage their children to participate in this program and enjoy it to the fullest in a delightful and agreeable manner.

Most of the old forms of violence and destruction have gone out of favor with the young folks, who have been impressed by their parents that acts of vandalism is a serious offense.

With the full cooperation of the parents, we will be able to enjoy the Halloween celebration free from disorderly acts. Marking business places, soaping windows in homes, stores and automobiles are violations of the law and children should be so warned by their parents.

If you can't forgive your enemies in daily life, at least turn your back and ignore them.

CANDY AND CAVITIES

The American Dental Association declared recently that banning the sale of candy and soft drinks in school zones would be a boon to parents who dole out lunch money to their youngsters only to learn that the money is spent for sweets. There can be several bad results from excessive use of sweets. Candy has food value but it is an inadequate substitute for more substantial foods. Too much candy can also help the insidious progress of dental cavities. The same is true of soft drinks.

Maybe banning the sale of candy in school zones would help. But it can never be the whole answer. A positive approach, educating youngsters in the fact that a sensible diet is more appetizing as well as more healthful, is also needed. Children should learn that like many other good things in life, sweets used in moderation are beneficial and satisfying but used immoderately they can be harmful.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CARNIVAL OF MURDER

Alexander Orlov worked in the Supreme Court of Soviet Russia; he became a diplomat and was the Russian counter-intelligence chief in Spain during the Spanish Civil War. He was in the OGPU (NKVD). In Spain, he was adviser to the Spanish Republican government on matters relating to counter-intelligence and guerrilla warfare behind the enemy lines.

When he saw that many who had been Stalin's colleagues and whose loyalty was unquestionable were being murdered, he escaped before his number came up. For many years, he has been in hiding.

Alexander Orlov has now written a most valuable book, "The Secret History of Stalin's Crimes," which has been published by Random House. It is an objective report, written about men he knew and worked with, whom he characterizes with intimacy and understanding.

He establishes the authenticity of his material in this and subsequent paragraphs:

"I have written down the directives which Stalin personally gave to the NKVD chiefs at the conferences in the Kremlin; his instructions to the NKVD inquisitors on methods of breaking the resistance of Lenin's friends and extorting from them false confessions. I have recorded Stalin's personal negotiations with some of his victims and the words actually spoken by the doomed men behind the walls of the Lubianka Prison. I obtained these closely guarded secrets from the NKVD interrogators themselves, some of whom had, in the past, been subordinate to me. Among them was my former assistant Mironov, chief of the Economic Administration of the NKVD, who had been one of Stalin's chief aides in the preparation of the Moscow trials and Boris Berman, deputy chief of the Foreign Department of the NKVD."

The character of Stalin stands out like a horrible, frightening nightmare; this man was devoid of all moral qualities. He killed his wife; he hated his eldest son, who disappeared in Germany during World War II; he killed his brother-in-law; he killed his two most intimate personal friends; he killed his political associates; he killed the men who did the killing for him, Yagoda and Yezhov; he killed the women and children of the families of the men he killed.

Names, dates, trials, purges, conversations, reports, all are given in this book with a calm objectivity that becomes a profile of the debasement of human nature.

The impression that I got from reading this book is that all of Stalin's murders were unnecessary, even from self-interest, and therefore could only have been the product either of a disordered, homosexual mind, or that the man lived in such fears that he could assuage them only by constant self-convincing acts of torture and murder.

One of his instruments was Andrei Vishinsky, now the Soviet representative at the United Nations, to whose dastardly ability Dr. Charles W. Mayo called attention in his brilliant United Nations speech. Orlov and Vishinsky worked together in the Supreme Court. Vishinsky, who attacks our country regularly with filthy venom, was, in his younger years, a bootlicker, and apple polisher, a vindictive careerist. And the facts are given in detail.

I know Orlov. Some day he ought to write a book on the Spanish Civil War, particularly the part played by Americans in the Abraham Lincoln Brigade. This story has never been told in full. Also, it would be of great value to have him make a comparison between the espionage and counter-intelligence methods used by Soviet Russia and the United States. The Russians have done such a magnificent job in the United States, infiltrating our government and the institutions of our people, stealing our atom bomb and our radar developments, that the pattern of work ought to be described to our people.

It is not often that one of Orlov's experience lives long enough to come over to our side. Gouzenko, who exposed the spy ring in Canada, and Kravchenko, who provided some data on the spy ring in the United States, while their contributions were of value, never attained as high positions or such intimate personal relations as Orlov. And they did not know Stalin Today, other men like Alexander Orlov are in hiding in various parts of the world. They might be encouraged, if they see what Orlov has done, to fill in some of the blank spaces in this carnival of murder.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CURBING APPETITE TO REDUCE WEIGHT

In trying to reduce weight in an overweight, the most successful method is the use of a prescribed reducing diet of about 1,200 calories daily. By using this diet in patients who required 1,500 to 1,800 calories daily, these patients gave up 300 to 600 calories daily for the food needs of their body. One of the ways of helping the overweight with a big appetite is the use of drugs to reduce appetite so that the overweight is not tempted to eat more than the 1,200 calories daily diet. Of course, if he or she feels weak by use of this submaintenance diet, he is advised to eat one or two lumps of sugar or a piece of candy to keep up strength until the next meal.

In the book Endocrine Treatment in General Practice, written by a group of nutritionists and gland specialists (endocrinologists), edited by Max A. and Joseph W. Goldziehser, it is stated that enforcement of strict cooperation is essential. Patients can be helped to control the appetite by frequent meals, preferably five times a day. Five meals can be arranged by a snack between breakfast and lunch and a snack between lunch and dinner.

When it is necessary to curb the appetite in addition to these snacks midmorning and midafternoon, the use of the drug amphetamine and amphetamine preparation (Benzedrine sulfate, Dexedrine) is usually effective. "Benzedrine is used in doses of 5 to 10 mg. two or three times a day: morning, noon and early afternoon." As these appetite-curbing drugs may cause sleeplessness, the use of phenobarbital in doses of ¼ to ½ grain is usually prescribed. This method of reducing weight by curbing the appetite is the same method as that of treating alcoholism, 5 to 10 mg. of the drug after breakfast and after lunch, and the use of phenobarbital at bedtime to induce a restful sleep after the physical and mental boost given by amphetamine during the day.

Just as some cannot curb their appetite for food, other overweights cannot curb their thirst. Two simple methods are suggested for cutting down on liquids (which maintain and increase weight); (1) adding a little lemon juice to the water, and (2) using a small glass (jigger-one ounce) instead of the usual-sized glass.

I sometimes think we write too much and too often about the reducing diet, although it is the best and safest method of reducing weight, when physicians could help these overweights to curb their appetite. As mentioned before very often, "You can't get fat on food you do not eat."

Scotch Laird Offers Grain to Abandoned Mill

Long ago large landowners used to keep up mills for the purpose of the small landlords, farmers and others getting their corn ground. For this privilege the lord of the mill, by act of Parliament, was entitled to a tax called "Thirlage," which was usually paid in grain. This tax is still being exacted in various parts of Scotland. A few years ago the Laird of Blairhead resisted the claim for money for this tax. His defense was that the mill was no longer in use. The court, however, decided that he was still liable. And so the phantom tax is still being paid.

Voters Desired Efficiency, Economy, Now Protests Are Arising in Nation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 30—When the American people voted the Eisenhower administration into power nearly a year ago, they expressed a desire to eliminate waste in government and get efficiency. But when the present regime starts to put into effect a reorganization of bureaus—even though Congress has approved—protests arise. They come largely from vested interests—those that want to see certain jobs or certain expenditures continued irrespective of their merits.

Thus, the secretary of agriculture, Ezra T. Benson, finds himself attacked merely because, in seeking, for example, to improve the soil conservation service for the farmer, he eliminates a few federal jobs and places more responsibility on the state conservation units than on the regional offices.

One would think from the clamor raised—and it begins to look as if certain interests are manufacturing drives and caravans for political purposes—that something drastic was being done to the conservation service or that the secretary was proceeding arbitrarily.

Yet the facts are that he submitted his broad reorganization plan to Congress through the President last July, and the Congress agreed to it. Were the reorganization proposals fully discussed beforehand? The answer is that the secretary of agriculture consulted in advance the Senate and House Agricultural Committees, the Senate and House Appropriations Committees, representatives of all the principal farm organizations, such as the National Farmers' Union, the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Council of Farm Cooperatives. But, in addition to these, he talked with officials of the National Association of Soil Conservation districts and various advisory groups inside and outside the government.

From none of these came objections, but now comes a counter-attack from some of those groups whose jobs may be affected—a small number, but evidently a powerful one in stimulating objections.

To meet that kind of bombardment, Secretary Benson has sent a letter to the boards of supervisors of all soil conservation districts, declaring that, "because of the great amount of confusion caused by the wide dissemination of false and misleading information," he has prepared a set of questions and answers for their information.

"These plans," says Mr. Benson, "propose certain changes in the soil conservation service organizational structure to improve services to the districts. There is no intent to dissolve or destroy the service, nor to change our relationship to the soil conservation districts. It has never been our intention to place the soil conservation service or any of its functions in the agricultural extension service."

Mr. Benson added that he had told all this to the congressional committees and that he has always regarded the continuance of the soil conservation service as very important.

What then causes the row? It was the proposal to abolish regional offices and place on each state conservation office the responsibility, now in regional offices, to assist the farmer in meeting his conservation problems. The state offices are to be strengthened by the inclusion of technical personnel, including a state conservation engineer, a soil scientist and a soil conservationist. In addition, other specialists will be brought in, and no change in the existing technical personnel is to be made, the secretary says, because most of them will be transferred to the states and to Washington.

But there will be lesser personnel who will be released. The same thing is happening throughout the government. The administration feels it has a mandate from the people to do away with jobs that can be eliminated and money saved. But every time there is a cutdown, the persons affected or their anonymous spokesmen start a protest. The people generally want their taxes reduced. Uncle Sam doesn't owe anybody a lifetime job in a bureau of the government. And if the present administration can get the necessary work done by fewer jobholders, the American people will be happy—and the protests will be drowned out by the applause.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is serious danger that Robert F. Wagner, Jr., the son of the bumbling old faker whose name was attached to the Wagner Act, will be elected mayor of New York. Wagner has been challenged to say whether he would permit Mike Quill, the president of the Transport Workers' Union, to organize a union of New York policemen. In that case, Quill would control the department, most of the old, seasoned uniformed executives would take their pensions and retire, and there might be a repetition in New York of policemen's strikes and terrible riots which occurred in Boston and Liverpool soon after World War 1. At best the cops would be handcuffed in any riotous troubles with any union in a markedly turbulent time.

Wagner is not very bright but he has behind him both Tammany and the Fabian Socialist organization called Americans for Democratic Action, a political parasite. Wagner insists that a policemen's strike would be unthinkable, but then he pulls the rug from under himself by insisting, of course, that he recognizes the right of all workers to join unions, including specifically policemen.

There is no defined line on Quill's politics with reference to communism. Mrs. Bella Dodd, a Catholic of Italian parents, who joined the party but finally cut loose to oppose it, has given some information. She said that in 1937 and 1938 the international party decided to go after Catholic workers and, in New York, seized upon Quill, a native of Ireland, with a mushy brogue, as one who would be likely to rise to power. Accordingly, Mrs. Dodd said, a party functionary called a "contact" was assigned to attend Quill as a political "guide." Mrs. Dodd doubted that Quill ever joined the party but said that from the party's standpoint it was sufficient that its influence should dominate the politics and sympathies of a large element of industrious workers of Irish stock and Catholic religion. Most of Quill's subjects can be thus described.

During the war, Quill and Joe Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, also of the CIO, were the two most belligerent followers of the party line in the CIO. Curran wrote that the war had been an imperial aggression by Britain, France and Poland until Hitler struck Russia in June, 1941. Thereupon it became a people's war for democracy. Then Curran began to harangue for a second front in France to save the lives of Russian soldiers, at the cost of one American soldier's life, more or less, for every Russian life that was saved. Curran was safely deferred by his draft board on the representation of his union that he was essential to the union's activity in the "war effort." Curran controlled the union's actions so, in effect, he wrote his own exemption even when he was bawling for teen-age American boys to throw themselves at the German fortifications to save the lives of Russians.

Since the war, Curran and Quill have been vaguely represented as anti-Communists.

On Dec. 18, 1944, the Associated Press reported that the Greater New York Council of the CIO had voted to establish a "standing army" to be on call "for picketing and mass demonstrations." At the same meeting, Quill was elected president of the council, succeeding Curran. The proposal of an "army" to do the bidding of the council closely resembled the brown shirt tactics of the early Nazis. The secretary-treasurer of the council was Saul Mills, a notorious member of the Communist party. He had been active in the newspaper guild and later he made a Communist mission to China. In a speech at this meeting Mills said the executive board had "come to the conclusion that a standing army of several thousand members should be on hand to respond to any call for picketing or other activity."

Quill's interpretation of "other activity" by a "standing army" of the CIO has been indicated by alarming harassments of the people such as slow-downs of the bus-drivers in the most trying weather. He received encouragement from both LaGuardia and O'Dwyer, but Vincent Impellitteri fought him and beat him in direct issues, including his attempt to dragoon the cops into the transport workers' union under the violent principles demonstrated in many places.

Harold Riegelman, the Republican nominee, like Impellitteri, has rejected the proposition of a police force subject to the orders of a union boss who so recently organized a "standing army" for "mass demonstrations, picketing and other activity," or of any other union.

On Aug. 15, 1951, 600 policemen, voting as delegates of 130 police benevolent associations in the state and city of New York, passed a resolution stating that Quill's background was closely akin to the Communist ideology and charging him with fifth-column tactics in his effort to get control of the police. The resolution said he was trying to arouse conflict between labor and the cops.

Wagner has the backing of Senator Herbert Lehman and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who is warming up to challenge Tom Dewey for the governorship next year. As a stooge of ADA, Wagner also has the support of Eleanor Roosevelt. She and Dave Dubinsky actually have two candidates going, both endorsed by the ADA. The other is Rudolph Halley.

Report on Reading

Newport, R. I., Oct. 30 (AP)—The Rhode Island Library Association got a disconcerting report on how young people's reading habits are affected by television. Miss M. Isabelle Hall, Providence High School teacher, surveyed sophomore reading habits and got these student comments: "A masterpiece is something you don't understand." "Books give you an idea of how to get into trouble but never tell you how to get out of it." "I'm going to read a book sometime. Last night I saw a quiz show and the contestant didn't get the jackpot because he hadn't read a book."

Republican Candidates

GEORGE NORTON, JR.

The Republican candidate for alderman in the Sixth Ward has represented that area for four months, since the resignation of David Schechter, and has put forth every effort in the Common Council to obtain requests made by residents.

Norton accepted appointment to office when Schecter removed from the ward, because, he said, "I've lived in the Sixth for more than 20 years and am interested in its welfare."

A staunch believer in the American way of every citizen being interested in government, Norton appreciates suggestions from residents in his ward, and transfers them for action in the Common Council.

The Republican candidate is married to the former Joan Enright, and they have a son, 4, and daughter, 2. He graduated from St. Mary's School, and attended Kingston High School for three years.

This overseas veteran of the 349th Regiment, 88th Division, anti-tank fighting unit of the army, with 13½ months service in Italy, is an electric motor repairman employed for seven years by P. J. Gallagher, whose shop is at 17 Spring street.

"If elected by the people to the office I now hold," he said, "I shall devote my efforts to giving them good representation in the Common Council."

STANLEY J. PETRO

Stanley J. Petro, the Republican candidate for alderman of the Third Ward, has been a resident of that ward for the past 24 years. He is thoroughly familiar with the needs of his ward.

He has been employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the past 24 years and resides at 422 Hasbrouck avenue with his wife, the former Winifred McCutcheon, and his six children, Richard, Mary-Wynne, Stanley, Judith, Marcia Jeanne, and John.

Stanley J. Petro has always interested himself in the civic affairs of the ward, city and county. He is a members of various clubs and organizations of the city.

Having been a former member of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, he is familiar with the needs and well qualified to best serve the interests of the people of the Third Ward as their representative in the Common Council.

Observe Education Week

Albany, Oct. 30 (AP)—American Education Week will be observed Nov. 8-14 in New York state. Gov. Dewey said yesterday in a proclamation that it was "more important than ever that we thoroughly prepare our youth for the full obligations of alert, loyal and competent American citizenship."

Kiwanis Hears Wallkill Chaplain

"There is nothing quite so interesting, quit so thrilling, or quite so productive as ministry behind the bars," the Rev. J. Frederick Cooper, Wallkill Prison resident chaplain, told members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon meeting on Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Wallkill, one of the greatest prisons in the world from a standpoint of penalogical reform, has a rehabilitation program which makes use of elementary schools, a full high school, and 22 vocational training programs, Chaplain Cooper said, as well as recreation and physical training.

Must Teach Morals

Without religious training, he said, this specialized instruction would only result in turning convicts into more expert crooks. There must be inculcation of a sense of decency, and moral and ethical training, he said.

Pointing out how Jewish, Roman Catholic and Protestant chaplains work together in the rehabilitation program, the Rev. Mr. Cooper said that a prison chaplain's job includes the holding of services, teaching of classes, and, above all, personal counseling. He was introduced by Howard C. St. John, Ulster county district attorney.

Kiwanis Vice President Hubert Hoderath announced that this week's Kapers rehearsal will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall at 2 p. m. Sunday, instead of the time previously announced.

Tobacco Industry Topic at Rotary

Charles B. Back, treasurer of J. B. Back Co., cigar manufacturers of this city, spoke to his fellow Rotarians on the tobacco industry at the Rotary luncheon-meeting Wednesday. He was presented by S. James Matthews, program chairman. James Connelly presided in the absence of President Larry Bogert.

In his very interesting and informative talk, Back described raising of tobacco and particularly the crop in the Connecticut River Valley.

The Connecticut tobacco crop, which is used for binder and wrapper on good cigars, is very expensive to grow there, he said, because there is no diversification of crops and it is in a hail storm region and crop insurance is very high.

Holland Dutch organizations control a great deal of the Connecticut tobacco crop. At one time the Island of Sumatra was the chief source for this standard of tobacco.

On January 1, 1928, the Mayor of the City of Kingston becomes a paid executive.

In view of this fact, it is essential that the Mayor devote his entire time to the job and not allow hangers-on to run the city.

Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey has publicly stated that if elected to the office of Mayor he will resign from all his present business connections and devote his entire time to the office.

This should be the case with any one who desires this position, but Mayor Dempsey's opponent has yet to state that he will give up his law practice and devote his entire time in the office.

THERE ARE MANY PUBLIC OFFICES open to a lawyer, such as corporation counsel, county attorney, district attorney, county judge, surrogate, justice of the supreme court—all offices that no one but a lawyer can hold.

WHEN IT COMES TO RUNNING A BIG CORPORATION LIKE THE CITY, IT NEEDS A BUSINESS MAN AND NOT A LAWYER, BUT ONE WHO HAS HAD A GREAT DEAL OF BIG BUSINESS EXPERIENCE. Such a man is Edgar J. Dempsey, who, if elected, will devote his entire time to the job.

In this he will be ably supported by C. Ray Everett, Alderman-at-large, who is fully able to act as mayor pro tem in the event of anything happening to the mayor.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Psychology Helps Win Bridge Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

How should South play the heart suit in today's hand? Technique will not give you the answer to this question, since much depends on how much the West player knows and how quick his bridge reactions happen to be.

South should win the first trick with the ace of diamonds and lead a small heart at once. The average West player will automatically play the low heart, and South finesses dummy's nine. This play practically assures the contract as the cards lie.

East wins with the king of hearts, cashes the ten of diamonds, and then returns the ten of clubs. South wins in his own hand with the ace of clubs (in order to save dummy's club entry for later) and leads another heart towards dummy.

When West plays the ten, South may finesse dummy's jack, or he may go up with the ace and ruff a heart return. Either plan will work, for South will manage to draw trumps and get a discard on one of dummy's hearts.

An expert West will see the heart situation as soon as the dummy comes down on the table. When South leads a low heart at the second trick, West should jump right up with the queen. What should South make of this play?

If South thinks that West has the king-queen of hearts, he should win the second trick with dummy's ace of hearts and return a low trump towards his hand. He wins with the king of spades and leads another heart towards dummy. West plays low, and South must guess.

If South guesses the winning play of the nine of hearts, he will be in good shape. If he puts up dummy's Jack of hearts, however, he will lose his contract. East wins with the king of hearts, cashes the ten of diamonds and leads a club.

South takes the ace of clubs and hopefully leads the queen of spades — but, East refuses the trick. Now dummy has only one entry (the king of clubs), which is not enough to set up a heart and also get back to cash it.

In short, South must guess how West would play if he held the various possible combinations in hearts. Hence South must be a psychologist, not just a good technician, to get the most out of his cards.

Aged Need Help

Boston (AP)—The social service problem has shifted from youth to the aged, says Patrick A. Tompkins, Massachusetts commissioner of public welfare, who has 25 years of his career behind him. "When I started," says Tompkins, "the teen age boy was the problem but now it's the aged. We've got to do more research, study more treatment methods and do something to abolish the loneliness that comes with advanced years."

BABSON on BUSINESS

New Boston, N. H., Oct. 29—In view of my recent column on the importance of Trust Funds for children and others, I must today refer to the recent terrible kidnaping and murder of the six-year-old son of Robert C. Greenlease of Kansas City.

Apparently, Carl Hall, a son of a reputable citizen, was the cause of this frightful crime. Although Carl Hall's father knew that his boy was rather unstable, yet he left him $200,000 of property outright. If Carl had been a poor boy and trained to work, the crime might never have occurred. Or, if the father had left his boy, Carl, the money in trust it probably never would have happened.

Unfortunately, money was left to the Hall boy outright, enabling him to live like a "drunken sailor" as long as it lasted; but when it was gone he was penniless, "left in the gutter." Young Hall could not readjust himself to these changed conditions. He sought to devise a plan to again get a fortune for nothing. This kidnapping was his "solution." Hence, the crime, murder, disgrace and grief which came with it. I repeat that if the money had been left in trust so that the boy received a fair sum from the bank each month, the crime might not have happened. So much for this.

Have You an Up-to-Date Will?

Now let me discuss WILLS, which must come before any Trust Funds can be provided. There are very important reasons for everyone to make and constantly revise a WILL. Perhaps your wife may die first, or you both get killed together in an automobile accident. Perhaps some relative of hers (whom you do not like) would get her share of your property. Your wife might cut off one of your children or all of the grandchildren if she married again.

If you have not made a WILL you should consult your lawyer tomorrow. First, find out to whom your property would go if you died now. (His answer will surprise you). Second, ask him what could happen to your life's earnings and savings if your wife should marry again. (Could she cut off your own children and relatives?). Third, could one of your own children marry and give or loan her part to her husband to lose in some business or investment? Fourth, are you absolutely protecting your grandchildren?

What About Taxes?

Assume you may die tomorrow and leave, with or without a WILL, considerable property to your wife. Your estate might be liable for a heavy tax upon this. Then assume that in a few years your wife should die and your children inherit this money. This could result in a second tax. In fact, without a WILL the grandchildren might get very little.

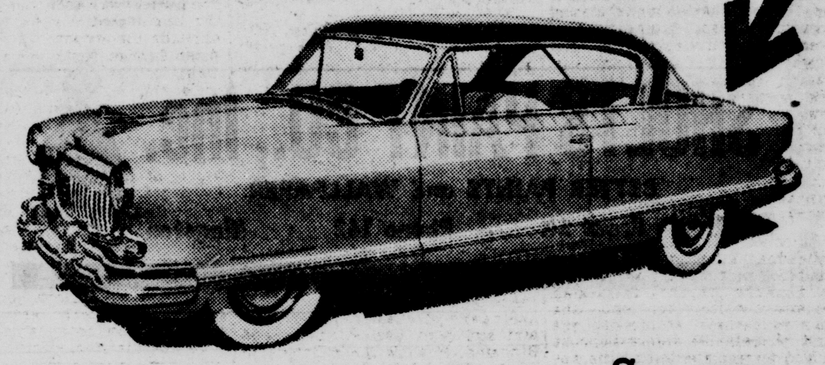

You'd better leave your wife's share, at your death, to a Trust Company in trust for your children and grandchildren, with this provision: So long as your wife lives, she is to have the income. At her death, your children can have the income. When your grandchildren reach a certain age (say 26 years), after the death of your wife and their mother, they are to gradually get the principal, as well as the income.

Remember Relatives and Charities

Have you an aunt or cousin who was very good to you when you were young? These you can remember only by a WILL! On the other hand, without a WILL your estate could go to distant relatives whom you never knew. Remember you can easily remember these old relatives and friends by adding a simple codicil, which your lawyer can quickly draw. Do it now. Never sign any paper while in your last illness. Be sure the original of your WILL and ALL CODICILS are in the custody of a bank, with only copies in your home safe or your safety deposit box.

Why not give something to the church which brought you up, or to some hospital or other charity? You would not live in a community without these. Then you should help them out. You can do it only by making a WILL or CODICIL. My full name is Roger W. Babson. The "W" really stands for Capt. Ward, an old Gloucester fisherman; but when people ask me for what it stands I reply "Will." I wish I could devote the rest of my life to helping people to make WILLS and CODICILS.

Psychology Helps Win Bridge Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY

How should South play the heart suit in today's hand? Technique will not give you the answer to this question, since much depends on how much the West player knows and how quick his bridge reactions happen to be.

South should win the first trick with the ace of diamonds and lead a small heart at once. The average West player will automatically play the low heart, and South finesses dummy's nine. This play practically assures the contract as the cards lie.

East wins with the king of hearts, cashes the ten of diamonds, and then returns the ten of clubs. South wins in his own hand with the ace of clubs (in order to save dummy's club entry for later) and leads another heart towards dummy.

When West plays the ten, South may finesse dummy's jack, or he may go up with the ace and ruff a heart return. Either plan will work, for South will manage to draw trumps and get a discard on one of dummy's hearts.

An expert West will see the heart situation as soon as the dummy comes down on the table. When South leads a low heart at the second trick, West should jump right up with the queen. What should South make of this play?

If South thinks that West has the king-queen of hearts, he should win the second trick with dummy's ace of hearts and return a low trump towards his hand. He wins with the king of spades and leads another heart towards dummy. West plays low, and South must guess.

If South guesses the winning play of the nine of hearts, he will be in good shape. If he puts up dummy's Jack of hearts, however, he will lose his contract. East wins with the king of hearts, cashes the ten of diamonds and leads a club.

South takes the ace of clubs and hopefully leads the queen of spades — but, East refuses the trick. Now dummy has only one entry (the king of clubs), which is not enough to set up a heart and also get back to cash it.

In short, South must guess how West would play if he held the various possible combinations in hearts. Hence South must be a psychologist, not just a good technician, to get the most out of his cards.

New Boston, N. H., Oct. 29—In view of my recent column on the importance of Trust Funds for children and others, I must today refer to the recent terrible kidnaping and murder of the six-year-old son of Robert C. Greenlease of Kansas City.

A. B. C. REPORTS — FACTS AS A BASIC MEASURE OF ADVERTISING VALUE

Esopus Township Group to Discuss Centralizing Plan

Port Ewen, Oct. 29—At a disappointingly small meeting of the Town of Esopus School Improvement Association held at the Esopus Town Hall October 27 it was decided that strong appeals be made to school, civic and political leaders to attend a meeting of the association on November 9. The purpose of the November meeting will be the discussion of possible school consolidation and the consequences which may result from further inaction on rural school matters in parts of Esopus.

Pointing out that 84 per cent of the State of New York is organized into centralized school districts and that the area represented by the association is thus part of a small minority, Chairman John Spinnenweber stated, "Unless this minority is willing to work out it's own problem, the state education department may work it out for us. It is our opinion that the voters of the area will want a voice in such important matters but unless the trustees of the districts involved and other interested parties come to our meetings and familiarize themselves with the problem they may find that the decision has been made for them."

Says Confusion Exists

Chester Barth, past commander, who attended the meeting as a representative of the Town of Esopus Post of the American Legion reported that a committee from his organization had made a survey of schools in this area and had found that confusion exists in many districts where no concerted effort has been made to understand the future requirements of the New York State Education Department. Fear of higher school taxes, they found, was causing a do-nothing attitude in some districts.

Barth reviewed the fact that laws now on the books specify radical changes in the requirements for rural schools, limitations on state aid in some cases and modifications of the present laws which will change the educational picture by 1956.

To Present Data

Chairman Spinnenweber emphasized that the Association would not be prepared to give all the answers to the perplexing questions which confront the area's educational authorities but would present the information it has and an explanation of the approved precedure for determining whether or not the voters of the area wish to consider consolidation or some other alternative.

A brief letter pointing out the danger of possible obsolescence, increased school taxes and loss of state aid on out-students was prepared by George M. Hard, trustee of District 4, Town of Esopus. This will be sent to trustees of school districts in the affected area in hope that it will awaken them to the importance of attending the meeting on November 9.

Savings Associations Volume Is Climbing

Savings account balances in New York's 235 savings and loan associations increased $17,452,573 in September, according to a report released today by David Ford, president of the Savings Association League of New York State. He points out that this gain was 4.7 per cent higher than the increase of $16,673,305 in September 1952.

The net gain in savings for the first three quarters of 1953 amounts to $178,644,334 or 10.8 per cent; and for the twelve months ended September 30, $250,125,791, which is at an annual rate of gain of 15.7 per cent.

Total savings in these thrift and home financing institutions are now at an all-time high of $1,838,321,284.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

The Ego Is Mightier Than the Sword

A sculptor phoned me a few days ago and asked whether I'd like to sit for him—that he wanted to do a bust of me in bronze. I thanked him, and without even asking what it would cost, turned him down. It might amuse you to know why. . . .

In 1946 while in Germany, I dropped in to pay my respects to the commanding general of our occupation forces. While we were chatting, a well-tailored captain walked into the office without being announced and, instead of saluting his surepior, waved a swagger stick at him.

"I want you to meet my friend Nicky," said the general. "He's one of the most valuable men around headquarters."

When the general and I had finished our chat, Nicky invited me to lunch and we drove to his place in Weisbaden in a shiny Mercedes Benz. His "place" turned out to be a spacious country house with five runing showers and half a dozen running seryants.

"Level with me," I said to the captain. "I'm an old hustler myself and I can spot a brother in an East river fog. How come all this magnificance?"

Nicky grinned and walked into a high-ceilinged room which was fixed up as an artist's studio. In the center was a life-sized statue of the commanding general. Around the room were half a dozen bronze busts of other generals.

"So that's the gimmick," I said. "You're turning the top brass into bronze."

"It hasn't always been a soft touch," said Nicky. "During the Battle of the Bulge, for instance, a two-star general had me set up shop in an open trench and posed with his arms folded during a bombardment. Another time, I was almost killed in an air raid when a famous Corps commander refused to take shelter until he saw how his nose came out.

"Since the Armistice," the captain went on, "life has of course been a lot easier. Recently, as a matter of military necessity, we requisitioned a small bronze foundry in Weisbaden, and now half the generals in Germany are waiting their turns."

"I've heard of goldbricking" I said, "but bronze-bricking is a new wrinkle."

"It's old as the hills," said Nicky. "When you see an antique coin with the face of Alexander the Great on it, remember he probably posed for it . . ."

Four years later I again met up with Nicky—this time in Buenos Aires. His blue suit was made of Italian shantung silk, and he was driving an even more luxurious Mercedes.

"Juan or Evita?" I asked

"Both," said Nicky. "The Perons have fixed up a studio for me at the palace. . . ."

And that, amigos, is why I refused to sit for the sculptor who phoned a few days ago. I knew that as soon as he picked up his chisel—or whatever he works with—I'd think of Nicky and bust out laughing.

TO THE VOTERS
in the
TOWN OF ROCHESTER

The Democratic campaign literature states that "Oliver Gray is running on an independent ticket, but the Democratic party heartily endorses him as the best candidate for the job."

As a Democratic Committeeman for the first district, and on behalf of many other enrolled Democrats, I want the voters of Rochester and particularly the Democratic voters to know why I do not endorse Gray for the position and WHY I SHALL ACTIVELY OPPOSE HIM.

Oliver Gray is definitely a Republican and is so enrolled. While opposing the Republican Candidate for Town Superintendent of Highways, he insists upon remaining the Republican Committeeman. How can the Democratic Party support a Republican Committeeman?

It has been reported that when the Central Committee of the Republican Party of Ulster county asked Mr. Gray to resign as Republican Committeeman, he refused to resign, stating that he was still a Republican and acting for the best interest of the Republican Party.

As a lifelong Democrat who has always worked for the Democratic Party, I cannot support a Republican who is merely using the Democratic Party temporarily for his personal interests.

Signed,

IRA DEYO, Democratic Committeeman
First Election District, Town of Rochester

Esopus Township Group to Discuss Centralizing Plan

Port Ewen, Oct. 29—At a disappointingly small meeting of the Town of Esopus School Improvement Association held at the Esopus Town Hall October 27 it was decided that strong appeals be made to school, civic and political leaders to attend a meeting of the association on November 9. The purpose of the November meeting will be the discussion of possible school consolidation and the consequences which may result from further inaction on rural school matters in parts of Esopus.

Pointing out that 84 per cent of the State of New York is organized into centralized school districts and that the area represented by the association is thus part of a small minority, Chairman John Spinnenweber stated, "Unless this minority is willing to work out it's own problem, the state education department may work it out for us. It is our opinion that the voters of the area will want a voice in such important matters but unless the trustees of the districts involved and other interested parties come to our meetings and familiarize themselves with the problem they may find that the decision has been made for them."

Says Confusion Exists

Chester Barth, past commander, who attended the meeting as a representative of the Town of Esopus Post of the American Legion reported that a committee from his organization had made a survey of schools in this area and had found that confusion exists in many districts where no concerted effort has been made to understand the future requirements of the New York State Education Department. Fear of higher school taxes, they found, was causing a do-nothing attitude in some districts.

Barth reviewed the fact that laws now on the books specify radical changes in the requirements for rural schools, limitations on state aid in some cases and modifications of the present laws which will change the educational picture by 1956.

To Present Data

Chairman Spinnenweber emphasized that the Association would not be prepared to give all the answers to the perplexing questions which confront the area's educational authorities but would present the information it has and an explanation of the approved precedure for determining whether or not the voters of the area wish to consider consolidation or some other alternative.

A brief letter pointing out the danger of possible obsolescence, increased school taxes and loss of state aid on out-students was prepared by George M. Hard, trustee of District 4, Town of Esopus. This will be sent to trustees of school districts in the affected area in hope that it will awaken them to the importance of attending the meeting on November 9.

Savings Associations Volume Is Climbing

Savings account balances in New York's 235 savings and loan associations increased $17,452,573 in September, according to a report released today by David Ford, president of the Savings Association League of New York State. He points out that this gain was 4.7 per cent higher than the increase of $16,673,305 in September 1952.

The net gain in savings for the first three quarters of 1953 amounts to $178,644,334 or 10.8 per cent; and for the twelve months ended September 30, $250,125,791, which is at an annual rate of gain of 15.7 per cent.

Total savings in these thrift and home financing institutions are now at an all-time high of $1,838,321,284.

Automotive Hint

By "setting" the brakes when the car is being washed, there is less chance of the brake linings becoming water soaked and causing temporary loss of braking efficiency.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

The Ego Is Mightier Than the Sword

A sculptor phoned me a few days ago and asked whether I'd like to sit for him—that he wanted to do a bust of me in bronze. I thanked him, and without even asking what it would cost, turned him down. It might amuse you to know why. . . .

In 1946 while in Germany, I dropped in to pay my respects to the commanding general of our occupation forces. While we were chatting, a well-tailored captain walked into the office without being announced and, instead of saluting his surepior, waved a swagger stick at him.

"I want you to meet my friend Nicky," said the general. "He's one of the most valuable men around headquarters."

When the general and I had finished our chat, Nicky invited me to lunch and we drove to his place in Weisbaden in a shiny Mercedes Benz. His "place" turned out to be a spacious country house with five runing showers and half a dozen running seryants.

"Level with me," I said to the captain. "I'm an old hustler myself and I can spot a brother in an East river fog. How come all this magnificance?"

Nicky grinned and walked into a high-ceilinged room which was fixed up as an artist's studio. In the center was a life-sized statue of the commanding general. Around the room were half a dozen bronze busts of other generals.

"So that's the gimmick," I said. "You're turning the top brass into bronze."

"It hasn't always been a soft touch," said Nicky. "During the Battle of the Bulge, for instance, a two-star general had me set up shop in an open trench and posed with his arms folded during a bombardment. Another time, I was almost killed in an air raid when a famous Corps commander refused to take shelter until he saw how his nose came out.

"Since the Armistice," the captain went on, "life has of course been a lot easier. Recently, as a matter of military necessity, we requisitioned a small bronze foundry in Weisbaden, and now half the generals in Germany are waiting their turns."

"I've heard of goldbricking" I said, "but bronze-bricking is a new wrinkle."

"It's old as the hills," said Nicky. "When you see an antique coin with the face of Alexander the Great on it, remember he probably posed for it . . ."

Four years later I again met up with Nicky—this time in Buenos Aires. His blue suit was made of Italian shantung silk, and he was driving an even more luxurious Mercedes.

"Juan or Evita?" I asked

"Both," said Nicky. "The Perons have fixed up a studio for me at the palace. . . ."

And that, amigos, is why I refused to sit for the sculptor who phoned a few days ago. I knew that as soon as he picked up his chisel—or whatever he works with—I'd think of Nicky and bust out laughing.

Press Photographers To Fete Miss Calamar

Woodstock, Oct. 30—Miss Jan Calamar, daughter of Mrs. Doris Calamar, will be feted by the press photographers of New York at a bon voyage party Oct. 31 when she sails with her mother for England on the Maasdan.

Miss Calamar was presented in a feature picture story recently by Sidney Fields in the New York Daily Mirror. Fields wrote that "Jan Calamar's face, and sometimes the rest of her, has been painted and sketched by more artists and illustrators than any model in America. Her face, and sometimes the rest of her, is on more than 500 portraits and paintings, hanging in private collections and at least 50 major galleries from the Metropolitan Museum in New York to the Museum of Art in Los Angeles."

Face Has Range

"Her face," Fields wrote, "has an eager loveliness, a quality of the universal woman, and any artist gets excited about the range of its expression. It can be earthy: They often paint her as a peasant or a Chinese coolie. It can be sophisticated: They paint her as a Can-Can girl, or a tightly bustled, prim woman of the 90's. One morning she posed as an American Indian girl. That same afternoon as a slinking French apache. The next morning she was a knock-kneed flapper chewing gum and that afternoon she posed as a nun."

"Jan is in steady demand by such artists as Eugene Speicher," Fields continued, "Louis Bouche, Sigmund Menkes, Marion Greenwood and Raphael and Moses Soyer. She also poses for such celebrity amateurs as Irene Rich, Antionette Schulte (of the cigar stores), actor Anthony Quinn, furniture man W. Sloane, Mrs. Max Gordon, and Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman All artists adore her and last May Jan was chosen 'Miss Artist's Model of 1953' and reigned at the Artists Equity Ball.

Posing Since Seven

"Jan has been posing since she was seven, and getting paid for it. She was born in Connecticut, and raised in Woodstock. Her sister paints; her brother is a photographer and her mother, an ex-newspaper woman, now writes short stories. At 18 Jan decided to be an actress, and went to Hollywood.

"'Closest I got was a tryout for the native girl in The Moon and Sixpence,' se said. 'And I tried for two years. I guess I get discouraged easily. Anyway I returned to modelling. A girl has to be in demand'."

Cub Pack 15 Holds Halloween Party

Spooks and goblins paraded past puzzled judges Wednesday evening at Comforter Hall as Cub Pack 15 held its annual Halloween party and pack meeting.

There were almost 150 Cub Scouts and parents in attendance at the party arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Furman and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scully of Den 4. In addition to prizes awarded for the best costumes, each of the five dens of the pack received an award for the presentation of a pumpkin head in some original form. Halloween games were also featured by the committee, and the evening ended with crullers and cider for all present, served by Den 5.

An induction ceremony was held for Ralph Palen, and two "veteran" Cub Scouts, William Brennan and Charles Rion, both of Den 2, were awarded their Webelos badges, the highest award in the Cub Scout movement.

Awards Given

Programs for the entire year, through August 1954, were distributed to all parents.

The regular monthly meeting of Pack 7 of St. John's Episcopal Church was held at the church hall Monday night.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Miss Calamar was presented in a feature picture story recently by Sidney Fields in the New York Daily Mirror. Fields wrote that "Jan Calamar's face, and sometimes the rest of her, has been painted and sketched by more artists and illustrators than any model in America. Her face, and sometimes the rest of her, is on more than 500 portraits and paintings, hanging in private collections and at least 50 major galleries from the Metropolitan Museum in New York to the Museum of Art in Los Angeles."

Face Has Range

"Her face," Fields wrote, "has an eager loveliness, a quality of the universal woman, and any artist gets excited about the range of its expression. It can be earthy: They often paint her as a peasant or a Chinese coolie. It can be sophisticated: They paint her as a Can-Can girl, or a tightly bustled, prim woman of the 90's. One morning she posed as an American Indian girl. That same afternoon as a slinking French apache. The next morning she was a knock-kneed flapper chewing gum and that afternoon she posed as a nun."

"Jan is in steady demand by such artists as Eugene Speicher," Fields continued. "Louis Bouche, Sigmund Menkes, Marion Greenwood and Raphael and Moses Soyer. She also poses for such celebrity amateurs as Irene Rich, Antionette Schulte (of the cigar stores), actor Anthony Quinn, furniture man W. Sloane, Mrs. Max Gordon, and Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman All artists adore her and last May Jan was chosen 'Miss Artist's Model of 1953' and reigned at the Artists Equity Ball.

Posing Since Seven

"Jan has been posing since she was seven, and getting paid for it. She was born in Connecticut, and raised in Woodstock. Her sister paints; her brother is a photographer and her mother, an exnewspaper woman, now writes short stories. At 18 Jan decided to be an actress, and went to Hollywood.

"'Closest I got was a tryout for the native girl in The Moon and Sixpence,' se said. 'And I tried for two years. I guess I get discouraged easily. Anyway I returned to modelling. A girl has to be in demand'."

Halloween games were also featured by the committee, and the evening ended with crullers and cider for all present, served by Den 5.

An induction ceremony was held for Ralph Palen, and two "veteran" Cub Scouts, William Brennan and Charles Rion, both of Den 2, were awarded their Webelos badges, the highest award in the Cub Scout movement.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Sinatra and Ava Cannot Reconcile

Hollywood, Oct. 30 (AP)—It's all over for Frankie and Ava. Glamorous Ava Gardner says "It's final this time" and she'll sue crooner Frank Sinatra for divorce.

"There's no chance of reconciliation," the shapely star said yesterday.

The reason? Frankie said there was career trouble but Ava denied this and wouldn't say what caused the split. There's no third party involved, however, she declared.

It's the third Ava Gardner marriage to hit the rocks. Husband No. 1 was Mickey Rooney, whom she married when he was playing in Andy Hardy films and she was a studio starlet.

'So I Left'

No. 2 was intellectual bandleader Artie Shaw, who took books along on their honeymoon. "He told me to leave, so I left," the farmer's daughter from Smithfield, N. C., said after their breakup.

Then came slender, bow-tied Frankie, from Hoboken, N. J., the crooning idol of thousands of shrieking, swooning bobbysoxers during World War 2.

He divorced Mrs. Nancy Sinatra in Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 1, 1951—two days after she had divorced him in Santa Monica, near here—and six days later married Ava in Philadelphia. Frank and Nancy, wed 12 years, had three children.

Frank and Ava, married two years, announced yesterday through MGM, her studio:

"Having reluctantly exhausted every effort to reconcile our differences, we find no mutual basis on which to continue our marriage.

"We still have great respect for each other."

VFW Ladies Give Flag to School

Presentation Talk On Flag Given by Mrs. Ralph Scism

As she addressed the students of Kingston High School, Thursday morning, Mrs. Ralph Scism told the assemblage the American flag she presented for the Ladies' Auxiliary of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, represented the devotion and courage of those who gave their lives in the defense of freedom and liberty.

Mrs. Scism, as Americanism chairman of the organization, and a delegation from the Auxiliary, led by Mrs. Christopher Roche, president, took part in the ceremony dedicating the six foot by 10 foot flag for use at the new Kate Walton Field House.

Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw attended the impressive rites, and led the assemblage in singing the Star Spangled Banner.

Mrs. Scism told the students that the red in the flag represents human sacrifice; blue the spirit of truth; white the shinning purity of lives; the stars hope for a greater, holier, nobler America.

"Those who made it, lived for it and died for it," she said, "are among our nation's greatest. They have passed into the silence of history, but by their devotion and courage and the splendor of their lives they ask you to be the flagmakers of tomorrow."

"Live and work that it will never fly over injustice, tyranny or oppression," Mrs. Scism said, "but ever and always over the righteousness, over people made happy by kindness, love and goodness."

Other members of the auxiliary besides Mrs. Roche and Mrs. Scism taking part in the presentation ceremony were Miss Agnes Gorman, Mrs. William Jordan, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. Douglas Edwards, Mrs. Howard Shultis, Mrs. Harry Steiger and Mrs. Sidney Lane.

PSC to Hold Bus Line Hearing

Albany, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Public Service Commission will hold a hearing in Kingston Nov. 13 (10 a. m. EST) to determine whether to revoke the certificate of a bus line operator.

The PSC said today that the operator, De Forest Shaver, had failed to comply with the commission's insurance requirements. He operated a bus route between Kingston, Esopus and Rosendale.

In a companion hearing at the same hour, the PSC will seek to determine whether Acker Bus Lines Inc. was operating buses over the same route without PSC permission.

The commission said the insurance on two of Shaver's buses had been canceled last month. Shaver then notified the PSC that he ceased operations Sept. 1, that the Acker Line had taken over the route and that a petition for transferring the operating rights would be filed later.

1,800 Places Are Open in NROTC For 1954 Graduates

Eighteen hundred appointments are open in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps program to high school graduates of the class of 1954, it was announced today by Chief Thomas Dowd of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Substation, Poughkeepsie.

A nation-wide competitive examination will be conducted December 12, 1953, for entry as midshipmen into the NROTC in the fall of 1954. Any man who will graduate at the end of this current academic year and is interested in the program should contact the local navy recruiting office or his guidance counselors.

NROTC students may pursue any course leading to a baccalaureate or higher degree, with the exception of medicine, dentistry, veterinary, theology, pharmacy, music or art. Upon graduation from one of the 52 colleges or universities, the successful candidate will receive a commission as ensign in the Navy or second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

Some of the qualifications for this program are: Be a citizen of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21; be unmarried and agree to remain unmarried until commissioned; accept a commission in the regular Navy or Marine Corps, if offered, and to serve on active duty for three years, if required, by the Secretary of the Navy, to serve a total of eight years in an active or inactive status from the date of acceptance of original commission.

Will Get 3 Weeks

Rochester, Oct. 30 (AP)—Employes of Gannett newspapers and radio stations who have five years continuous service will receive three-week paid vacations beginning Jan. 1. The announcement was made last night by Frank Gannett, president of the Gannett newspapers. It effects employes on 22 newspapers and five radio stations in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Illinois. Employes with 10 years service now get three-week paid vacations and those with one or more years get two weeks.

His Cache Was Gone

Baldwin Park, Calif., Oct. 30 (AP)—A 39-year-old machinist, Caryl E. Purcell, planned to buy a house. He cashed in a $10,000 life insurance policy for $7,900, he told police, then some bonds he had accumulated. He wanted the money where he could get it in a hurry. So he buried it under his garage. Yesterday he decided to take a look at his cache. It was gone. Gasped Mrs. Purcell, 36, his wife of 11 years: "I didn't know he had that much money."

She Helped Blind Man

Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP)—A woman helped blind Carl Carstensen across the street last night and led him to the door of his home. Then, he told police, she took his billfold from his pocket, removed $53, put the wallet back in his pocket and drove away in an automobile.

VFW Ladies Give Flag to School

Presentation Talk On Flag Given by Mrs. Ralph Scism

As she addressed the students of Kingston High School, Thursday morning, Mrs. Ralph Scism told the assemblage the American flag she presented for the Ladies' Auxiliary of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, represented the devotion and courage of those who gave their lives in the defense of freedom and liberty.

Mrs. Scism, as Americanism chairman of the organization, and a delegation from the Auxiliary, led by Mrs. Christopher Roche, president, took part in the ceremony dedicating the six foot by 10 foot flag for use at the new Kate Walton Field House.

Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw attended the impressive rites, and led the assemblage in singing the Star Spangled Banner.

Mrs. Scism told the students that the red in the flag represents human sacrifice; blue the spirit of truth; white the shinning purity of lives; the stars hope for a greater, holier, nobler America.

"Those who made it, lived for it and died for it," she said, "are among our nation's greatest. They have passed into the silence of history, but by their devotion and courage and the splendor of their lives they ask you to be the flag-makers of tomorrow."

"Live and work that it will never fly over injustice, tyranny or oppression," Mrs. Scism said, "but ever and always over the righteousness, over people made happy by kindness, love and goodness."

Other members of the auxiliary besides Mrs. Roche and Mrs. Scism taking part in the presentation ceremony were Miss Agnes Gorman, Mrs. William Jordan, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. Douglas Edwards, Mrs. Howard Shultis, Mrs. Harry Steiger and Mrs. Sidney Lane.

PSC to Hold Bus Line Hearing

Albany, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Public Service Commission will hold a hearing in Kingston Nov. 13 (10 a. m. EST) to determine whether to revoke the certificate of a bus line operator.

The PSC said today that the operator, De Forest Shaver, had failed to comply with the commission's insurance requirements. He operated a bus route between Kingston, Esopus and Rosendale.

In a companion hearing at the same hour, the PSC will seek to determine whether Acker Bus Lines Inc. was operating buses over the same route without PSC permission.

The commission said the insurance on two of Shaver's buses had been canceled last month. Shaver then notified the PSC that he ceased operations Sept. 1, that the Acker Line had taken over the route and that a petition for transferring the operating rights would be filed later.

Navy Eleven Will Bid For Upset of the Day

Tars, Rebounding, Could Jar Irish

New York, Oct. 29 (AP) — The crazy-quilt college football season swings into the second half tomorrow with Notre Dame, Maryland, Baylor and West Virginia the only undefeated-untied survivors among the big boys.

The Irish, the No. 1 team in the country, tackle Navy at South Bend minus their coach, Frank Leahy, who collapsed during the half-time intermission of the game with Georgia Tech last week. Leahy will watch the proceedings from his home via a local telecast while the team is directed by a platoon of his assistants headed by Joe McArdle.

Notre Dame rates a better-than-three-touchdown favorite over the Middies, who until they were upset by Penn last week, were regarded as about the strongest team in the east. What makes the contest interesting is the question:

What, if any, effect will the absence of Leahy have on Johnny Lattner, Ralph Guglielmi and Co.?

Some observers thought Navy's 9-6 defeat by Penn was caused more by Eddie Erdelatz' Tars looking ahead to Notre Dame than any particular weakness on their part. When he was appraised of the odds favoring Notre Dame, Erdelatz snapped:

"We don't lose our games before we play them."

It's been an upset-studded season and this is a golden opportunity for Navy—itself the victim of one of the big reversals of the campaign—to turn the tables.

Maryland, the class of the south and No. 2 in the weekly Associated Press poll, has a breeze in South Carolina as it races toward the championship of the new Atlantic Coast Conference and a place in the Orange Bowl.

Baylor's Big Chance

Baylor, which is stepping cautiously in its quest for the Southwest Conference title, plays Texas Christian in a loop game. The conference race is just getting hot, and the Horned Frogs will be faced with the task which so far has eluded Baylor's opponents—stopping its classy backs.

West Virginia, ranked fifth behind Illinois, is in a pecular position. This club holds the longest current winning streak of major teams—11—but its opposition has been on the weak side. The Mountaineers play Penn State tomorrow, and if they win, their place in the top 10 will be solidified. The skeptics will have been convinced.

Penn, the Ivy League club with the suicidal schedule, tackles Michigan at Ann Arbor, and it would be too much to ask George Munger's lads to spring two upsets in a row.

Purdue Tests Illini

The new favorite for the Big 10 title, Illinois, also gets a stiff test in Purdue, the outfit that pulled the shocker of the season by handing Michigan State its first defeat in 29 games last week. On paper, the Illini should win it, but Purdue, loser of its first four games before whipping State, is "up" and prowling for more Goliaths to stone.

For its part, Michigan State will be in no mood to trifle with Oregon State and the Spartans could run up a big score. Georgia Tech, State's brother under the skin—it had a 31-game undefeated string snapped by Notre Dame last week—also has a relatively easy assignment with Vanderbilt.

The NCAA's coast-to-coast television game of the day will send Pitt against Minnesota at Minneapolis.

In the far west, Southern California, which has looked better with each passing week, is the choice over Oregon, while UCLA, which would like nothing better than to make the Rose Bowl, has no softie in California.

Karl Strobel Is Big Cog In Wagner Grid Picture

Wagner College will be seeking its seventh straight homecoming victory this Saturday and the big cog in Coach Jim Lee Howell's plans is Karl Strobel, the former Kingston High school fullback.

Balanced Record

The Seahawks' record is even up with two victories and two losses with Strobel being directly responsible for one of the triumphs. Against a favored Hamilton College eleven at Clinton, he turned in a perfect performance while masterminding a 7-6 victory by romping 50 yards for a TD and kicking the extra point.

Wagner's homecoming opponent is Ursinus College of Pennsylvania, which boasts a high scoring squad and a 3-1 record. The Bears have tripped Susquehanna (32-14), Haverford (13-7) and Swarthmore (39-21), while losing only to Drexel 20-6. Haverford holds a 13-6 triumph over Wagner in the season's opener for both teams.

The 1952 Thriller

Odds mean little in the homecoming game for the Hawks are always "up" for the alumni. Witness Strobel's feat of last year. On the last play of the game, with the score knotted at 26-26, Karl tossed a game winning aerial into the end zone to John Mangiante for a 32-26 victory. The fans went wild, tearing down both goal posts before Wagner had a chance to try for the extra point.

To date Strobel leads the team in offense with 90 yards in 36 carries and has completed 18 of 44 attempts for 248 yards and two TDs. Only two have been intercepted.

Lakers Seeking Sixth NBA Title

Milwaukee, Oct. 30 (AP)—The 1953-54 National Basketball Assn. opens here tonight with the Minneapolis Lakers seeking their fifth championship in six years.

The Lakers meet the Milwaukee Hawks in the only game on opening night. Then on Saturday the Syracuse Nationals play the Philadelphia Warriors, and in New York the Baltimore Bullets oppose the Rochester Royals and Minneapolis plays the New York Knickerbockers in a double-header. Last season the Lakers defeated the Knickerbockers in the final round of the playoffs for the championship.

Any team including George Mikan, Clyde Lovellette, Jim Pollard and Vern Mikkelsen in its lineup must be rated high and if Minneapolis wins another title there might be a demand to "break up the Lakers."

There are no major changes in the Knickerbockers. Their key players are Carl Braun, Harry Gallatin, Sweetwater Clifton, Dick and Al McQuire, Connie Simmons and Vince Boryla, plus Jim Baechtold, obtained from Baltimore in a trade for Max Zaslofsky.

Ernie Vandeweghe has decided to play all home games after announcing his retirement last season.

Sain Quits Baseball

Walnut Ridge, Ark., Oct. 30 (AP)—Johnny Sain, the right-handed New York Yankee curveballer, yesterday retired from baseball to operate an automobile agency here.

Sain, who played in the major leagues for 11 years and in organized baseball for six years before that, won the opening game for the Yankees in the 1953 World Series in a relief role. His record for last season with the Yankees was 14 victories to 7 defeats.

He said he mailed his resignation to the Yankees this week.

The 35-year-old hurler, a native of Newport, Ark., got his start with the old Boston Braves in 1942 and played with them until 1951 when he was sold to the Yankees for $50,000.

Sain, who is married and the father of two children, said that "if the business deal had not come through I believe my arm would have lasted another two—maybe three—years. Physically I was a better man than in 1948."

"I'm through traveling for a while, all I want to do is settle down to business in Arkansas," he said.

Walnut Ridge, in northeast Arkansas, has a population of slightly more than 2,000.

Black Prince First

Yonkers, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Black Prince, driven by Jimmy Jordan, held off the stretch bid of Rebel Land, piloted by Dr. V. C. Fobian, to win a photo decision in the $4,000 Cloister feature pace last night at Yonkers Raceway. The time over the sloppy track was 2:21.1. Third was taken by Lord Clinton driven by Tom Walters. The winner returned $7.90, $5 and $4.10.

Wonder what the diehard Yankee rooters are going to do now?

We mean those who for years have been chanting the old, monotonous tune about Red Barber being biased and prejudiced, while throwing a halo around their mellifluous Mel Allen. The Old Redhead, who made the Brooklyn Dodgers a national institution and academically is the finest in the business, has joined the Yankee family.

If you were to believe some of these folks, there just won't be enough towels in the world to take care of the two cry-babies (Allen and Barber) next year at the Stadium. And whom can the poor Giant fans ride now? Maybe the Dodgers, yet, if they sign Bill Terry as manager in what would be an ironical and fantastic move.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Ted Bayly, who is bringing the Sharpe brothers here for the wrestling headliner Monday night, is behind a move to return professional boxing with a TV outlet to Albany for Saturday night shows. The first bout is tentatively scheduled Nov. 14 at the Mid-City Arena in Menands and will be televised nationally over Ray Arcel's Saturday night Channel 7 hookup. The arena seats 2500, including 1,000 reserved chairs. Eddie Brown, golf professional at the Columbia Golf and Country Club at Claverack, was elected second vice-president of the Northeastern New York PGA a few days ago. Meanwhile Jim Hutchins of Woodstock is expected to join Alex Gerlak on the Florida fairways later in the year. Everybody talks of Navy's Steve Eisenhauer and some others. No one mention's Army's Bob Farris, who easily could be the staunchest collegiate linebacker in the land. Ask Lou Little.

• Human Side of the Sports News:

This item culled from the Saugerties Post will ring the bell with many a bowling captain or sponsor. "Two members of Joe's Restaurant bowling team, a squad of keglers representing Saugerties in inter-city matches, were reportedly given the 'heave-ho' when they balked at bowling on the Athens alleys Saturday. The ousted stars are Wally Peters and Joe Sweeney, two of the community's outstanding rollers. Reports say they were asked to turn in their shirts. As yet no replacements for them has been announced by manager Jim Freligh. . . ."

• Of Men and Mice:

Longest area run in football to date is the 99½ TD jaunt by Jack Lashlee, a Beacon sophomore back against Cardinal Farley. Jimmy Dillon, former Highland Falls High gridder now starring with the California Bears, has been added to the draft list of the New York Giants. Johnny MacCallum, former NEA sports writer whose sprightly features have been published in the Freeman for several years, will leave the Fourth Estate to enter the advertising field. According to Bo Gill, the national scholastic magazine "Basketball 1954" already has Mickey Burkoski of Newburgh Academy tabbed as a member of the All-America high school's first team Coach Danny Cunha's Siena College cagers hold their opening workout Monday. The Indian mentor expects big things (naturally) from Long Tom Pottenburgh (6-10) of Rhinebeck and Frank "Yip" Koenig (6-5) of Kingston. Walter Dukes, the 7-foot skyscraper who played at Seton Hall, will show at the IBM Country Club on Nov. 18 as the world's highest paid professional basketball player. He'll be there with the Harlem Globe Trotters.

The signing of Big Sal Misasi, Glasco athletic ace of Saugerties High, was carried by the AP wire Wednesday. And Oneonta State College expects Bill DuBois of the 1952-53 KHS varsity to be a first rate performer with the Teachers, Middletown High has been as hard hit as Port Jervis with football injuries. Two of the Middies' star backs—Rod Whitby and Nino Marcello—Gil Rose, end; Steve Homkin and Bill Brown are on the infirmary roster for the remainder of the season. Mary and Bill Scully are vacationing in Montreal where they saw the Ottawa Rough Riders trim the Montreal Alouettes 30-10 in that million-dollar football circuit north of the border.

It took more than 30 years for someone to match Babe Ruth's celebrated bellyache of the mid-1920's, but you have to admit Coach Frank Leahy did a pretty good job last Saturday.

Onteora Central Places 2nd In Quadrangular Cross Country

Onteora Central School's cross country team finished second behind New Lebanon in a quadrangular meet Tuesday at Greenville.

Coach Ed Witko's harriers compiled 52 points behind New Lebanon's 26. Cairo High was third with 59 and Greenville finished fourth with 75.

Dunton, New Lebanon runner, flashed across the finish line in 9:06, two seconds ahead of Onteora's Bolter in the 1.8 mile race. The winners copped third, fourth and fifth places. Glass of Onteora was seventh and Beadle took down 10th place.

First Defeat

There were 46 runners in the field.

The loss was the first this season for Onteora Central which had previously whipped the Kingston JVs and won the quadrangular meet last week with Cairo, Gilboa and Greenville.

Onteora winds up its regular season next Friday in the Section 9 championships at Bear Mountain.

The results:

1. Dunton, New Lebanon, 9:06; 2. Bolter, Onetora, 9:08; 3. Regensberger, NL; 4. Overlook, NL; 5. Hobson, NL; 6. Potter, Greenville; 7. Glass, Onteora; 8. Cataldo, Cairo; 9. Hoberg, Cairo; 10. Beadle, Onteora.

Others in order of finish:

Dowell, Greenville; Lampman, Cairo; Hughes, New Lebanon; Crocker, Cairo; Locke, Onteora; Reffiani, Cairo; Baker, Greenville; Bremer, Onteora; Boyd, Greenville; Ondrek, Cairo.

Newark, N. J.—Charlie Norkus, 197, Jersey City, outpointed Matt Daniels, 185, New York, 8.

Fred Rice's 639 Series Best in Major League

An old timer who was a tenpin headliner before many of the modern crop were born took down high series honors in local bowling last night.

Fred Rice banged the uprights for successive counts of 203-213-223 to lead the Ferraro Major League with 639. It was the best of nine triples of six hundred in one of the loop's busiest sessions of the season.

Distaff honors went to Jennie Spada of the Central Rec Women's League with a 511 series on solos of 186, 172 and 153. Ethel Kreppel led the Sisterhood League with 181-464 and G. Hotaling topped the New Paltz Nite Cap loop with 180-502. Ellen Hutton's 193 was high single in the CRWL.

Bill Steiger paced the Electrol Night League with a 253 solo and 613 aggregate. The 253 was top single in the city.

Broskie Rolls 634

Trailing Rice by only five sticks was an erstwhile teammate, Harold Broskie, who fashioned 208-236-634 in the Major wheel. Buster Ferraro knocked off 215-201-615 and Cliff Davis matched that series with highs of 205-215.

Joe Misasi (204-213) and Frank Spada (203-224) tied with 614s and Ken Joseph powered 245, high single in the Major. Leo Bechtold toppled 204-243-602 and Whitey Crispell jarred 600 on the nose with 203-201.

Navy Eleven Will Bid For Upset of the Day

Tars, Rebounding, Could Jar Irish

New York, Oct. 29 (AP) — The crazy-quilt college football season swings into the second half tomorrow with Notre Dame, Maryland, Baylor and West Virginia the only undefeated-untied survivors among the big boys.

The Irish, the No. 1 team in the country, tackle Navy at South Bend minus their coach, Frank Leahy, who collapsed during the half-time intermission of the game with Georgia Tech last week. Leahy will watch the proceedings from his home via a local telecast while the team is directed by a platoon of his assistants headed by Joe McArdle.

Notre Dame rates a better-than-three-touchdown favorite over the Middies, who until they were upset by Penn last week, were regarded as about the strongest team in the east. What makes the contest interesting is the question:

What, if any, effect will the absence of Leahy have on Johnny Lattner, Ralph Guglielmi and Co.?

Some observers thought Navy's 9-6 defeat by Penn was caused more by Eddie Erdelatz' Tars looking ahead to Notre Dame than any particular weakness on their part. When he was appraised of the odds favoring Notre Dame, Erdelatz snapped:

"We don't lose our games before we play them."

It's been an upset-studded season and this is a golden opportunity for Navy—itself the victim of one of the big reversals of the campaign—to turn the tables.

Maryland, the class of the south and No. 2 in the weekly Associated Press poll, has a breeze in South Carolina as it races toward the championship of the new Atlantic Coast Conference and a place in the Orange Bowl.

Baylor's Big Chance

Baylor, which is stepping cautiously in its quest for the Southwest Conference title, plays Texas Christian in a loop game. The conference race is just getting hot, and the Horned Frogs will be faced with the task which so far has eluded Baylor's opponents—stopping its classy backs.

West Virginia, ranked fifth behind Illinois, is in a pecular position. This club holds the longest current winning streak of major teams—11—but its opposition has been on the weak side. The Mountaineers play Penn State tomorrow, and if they win, their place in the top 10 will be solidified. The skeptics will have been convinced.

Penn, the Ivy League club with the suicidal schedule, tackles Michigan at Ann Arbor, and it would be too much to ask George Munger's lads to spring two upsets in a row.

Purdue Tests Illini

The new favorite for the Big 10 title, Illinois, also gets a stiff test in Purdue, the outfit that pulled the shocker of the season by handing Michigan State its first defeat in 29 games last week. On paper, the Illini should win it, but Purdue, loser of its first four games before whipping State, is "up" and prowling for more Goliaths to stone.

For its part, Michigan State will be in no mood to trifle with Oregon State and the Spartans could run up a big score. Georgia Tech, State's brother under the skin—it had a 31-game undefeated string snapped by Notre Dame last week—also has a relatively easy assignment with Vanderbilt.

The NCAA's coast-to-coast television game of the day will send Pitt against Minnesota at Minneapolis.

In the far west, Southern California, which has looked better with each passing week, is the choice over Oregon, while UCLA, which would like nothing better than to make the Rose Bowl, has no softie in California.

Karl Strobel Is Big Cog In Wagner Grid Picture

Wagner College will be seeking its seventh straight homecoming victory this Saturday and the big cog in Coach Jim Lee Howell's plans is Karl Strobel, the former Kingston High school fullback.

Balanced Record

The Seahawks' record is even up with two victories and two losses with Strobel being directly responsible for one of the triumphs. Against a favored Hamilton College eleven at Clinton, he turned in a perfect performance while masterminding a 7-6 victory by romping 50 yards for a TD and kicking the extra point.

Wagner's homecoming opponent is Ursinus College of Pennsylvania, which boasts a high scoring squad and a 3-1 record. The Bears have tripped Susquehanna (32-14), Haverford (13-7) and Swarthmore (38-21), while losing only to Drexel 20-6. Haverford holds a 13-6 triumph over Wagner in the season's opener for both teams.

The 1952 Thriller

Odds mean little in the homecoming game for the Hawks are always "up" for the alumni. Witness Strobel's feat of last year. On the last play of the game, with the score knotted at 26-26, Karl tossed a game winning aerial into the end zone to John Mangiante for a 32-26 victory. The fans went wild, tearing down both goal posts before Wagner had a chance to try for the extra point.

To date Strobel leads the team in offense with 90 yards in 36 carries and has completed 18 of 44 attempts for 248 yards and two TDs. Only two have been intercepted.

Lakers Seeking Sixth NBA Title

Milwaukee, Oct. 30 (AP)—The 1953-54 National Basketball Assn. opens here tonight with the Minneapolis Lakers seeking their fifth championship in six years.

The Lakers meet the Milwaukee Hawks in the only game on opening night. Then on Saturday the Syracuse Nationals play the Philadelphia Warriors, and in New York the Baltimore Bullets oppose the Rochester Royals and Minneapolis plays the New York Knickerbockers in a double-header. Last season the Lakers defeated the Knickerbockers in the final round of the playoffs for the championship.

Any team including George Mikan, Clyde Lovellette, Jim Pollard and Vern Mikkelsen in its lineup must be rated high and if Minneapolis wins another title there might be a demand to "break up the Lakers."

There are no major changes in the Knickerbockers. Their key players are Carl Braun, Harry Gallatin, Sweetwater Clifton, Dick and Al McQuire, Connie Simmons and Vince Boryla, plus Jim Baechtold, obtained from Baltimore in a trade for Max Zaslofsky.

Ernie Vandeweghe has decided to play all home games after announcing his retirement last season.

Sain Quits Baseball

Walnut Ridge, Ark., Oct. 30 (AP)—Johnny Sain, the right-handed New York Yankee curveballer, yesterday retired from baseball to operate an automobile agency here.

Sain, who played in the major leagues for 11 years and in organized baseball for six years before that, won the opening game for the Yankees in the 1953 World Series in a relief role. His record for last season with the Yankees was 14 victories to 7 defeats.

He said he mailed his resignation to the Yankees this week.

The 35-year-old hurler, a native of Newport, Ark., got his start with the old Boston Braves in 1942 and played with them until 1951 when he was sold to the Yankees for $50,000.

Sain, who is married and the father of two children, said that "if the business deal had not come through I believe my arm would have lasted another two—maybe three—years. Physically I was a better man than in 1948."

"I'm through traveling for a while, all I want to do is settle down to business in Arkansas," he said.

Walnut Ridge, in northeast Arkansas, has a population of slightly more than 2,000.

Black Prince First

Yonkers, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Black Prince, driven by Jimmy Jordan, held off the stretch bid of Rebel Land, piloted by Dr. V. C. Fobian, to win a photo decision in the $4,000 Cloister feature pace last night at Yonkers Raceway. The time over the sloppy track was 2:21.1. Third was taken by Lord Clinton driven by Tom Walters. The winner returned $7.90, $5 and $4.10.

Wonder what the diehard Yankee rooters are going to do now?

We mean those who for years have been chanting the old, monotonous tune about Red Barber being biased and prejudiced, while throwing a halo around their mellifluous Mel Allen. The Old Redhead, who made the Brooklyn Dodgers a national institution and academically is the finest in the business, has joined the Yankee family.

If you were to believe some of these folks, there just won't be enough towels in the world to take care of the two cry-babies (Allen and Barber) next year at the Stadium. And whom can the poor Giant fans ride now? Maybe the Dodgers, yet, if they sign Bill Terry as manager in what would be an ironical and fantastic move.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Ted Bayly, who is bringing the Sharpe brothers here for the wrestling headliner Monday night, is behind a move to return professional boxing with a TV outlet to Albany for Saturday night shows. The first bout is tentatively scheduled Nov. 14 at the Mid-City Arena in Menands and will be televised nationally over Ray Arcel's Saturday night Channel 7 hookup. The arena seats 2500, including 1,000 reserved chairs. Eddie Brown, golf professional at the Columbia Golf and Country Club at Claverack, was elected second vice-president of the Northeastern New York PGA a few days ago. Meanwhile Jim Hutchins of Woodstock is expected to join Alex Gerlak on the Florida fairways later in the year. Everybody talks of Navy's Steve Eisenhauer and some others. No one mention's Army's Bob Farris, who easily could be the staunchest collegiate linebacker in the land. Ask Lou Little.

• Human Side of the Sports News:

This item culled from the Saugerties Post will ring the bell with many a bowling captain or sponsor. "Two members of Joe's Restaurant bowling team, a squad of keglers representing Saugerties in inter-city matches, were reportedly given the 'heave-ho' when they balked at bowling on the Athens alleys Saturday. The ousted stars are Wally Peters and Joe Sweeney, two of the community's outstanding rollers. Reports say they were asked to turn in their shirts. As yet no replacements for them has been announced by manager Jim Freligh. . . ."

• Of Men and Mice:

Longest area run in football to date is the 99½ TD jaunt by Jack Lashlee, a Beacon sophomore back against Cardinal Farley. Jimmy Dillon, former Highland Falls High gridder now starring with the California Bears, has been added to the draft list of the New York Giants. Johnny MacCallum, former NEA sports writer whose sprightly features have been published in the Freeman for several years, will leave the Fourth Estate to enter the advertising field. According to Bo Gill, the national scholastic magazine "Basketball 1954" already has Mickey Burkoski of Newburgh Academy tabbed as a member of the All-America high school's first team Coach Danny Cunha's Siena College cagers hold their opening workout Monday. The Indian mentor expects big things (naturally) from Long Tom Pottenburgh (6-10) of Rhinebeck and Frank "Yip" Koenig (6-5) of Kingston. Walter Dukes, the 7-foot skyscraper who played at Seton Hall, will show at the IBM Country Club on Nov. 18 as the world's highest paid professional basketball player. He'll be there with the Harlem Globe Trotters.

The signing of Big Sal Misasi, Glasco athletic ace of Saugerties High, was carried by the AP wire Wednesday. And Oneonta State College expects Bill DuBois of the 1952-53 KHS varsity to be a first rate performer with the Teachers. Middletown High has been as hard hit as Port Jervis with football injuries. Two of the Middies' star backs—Rod Whitby and Nino Marcello—Gil Rose, end; Steve Homkin and Bill Brown are on the infirmary roster for the remainder of the season. Mary and Bill Scully are vacationing in Montreal where they saw the Ottawa Rough Riders trim the Montreal Alouettes 30-10 in that million-dollar football circuit north of the border.

It took more than 30 years for someone to match Babe Ruth's celebrated bellyache of the mid-1920's, but you have to admit Coach Frank Leahy did a pretty good job last Saturday.

Onteora Central Places 2nd In Quadrangular Cross Country

Onteora Central School's cross country team finished second behind New Lebanon in a quadrangular meet Tuesday at Greenville.

Coach Ed Witko's harriers compiled 52 points behind New Lebanon's 26. Cairo High was third with 59 and Greenville finished fourth with 75.

Dunton, New Lebanon runner, flashed across the finish line in 9:06, two seconds ahead of Onteora's Bolter in the 1.8 mile race. The winners copped third, fourth and fifth places. Glass of Onteora was seventh and Beadle took down 10th place.

First Defeat

There were 46 runners in the field.

The loss was the first this season for Onteora Central which had previously whipped the Kingston JVs and won the quadrangular meet last week with Cairo, Gilboa and Greenville.

Onteora winds up its regular season next Friday in the Section 9 championships at Bear Mountain.

The results:

1. Dunton, New Lebanon, 9:06; 2. Bolter, Onetora, 9:08; 3. Regensberger, NL; 4. Overlook, NL; 5. Hobson, NL; 6. Potter, Greenville; 7. Glass, Onteora; 8. Cataldo, Cairo; 9. Hoberg, Cairo; 10. Beadle, Onteora.

Others in order of finish:

Dowell, Greenville; Lampman, Cairo; Hughes, New Lebanon; Crocker, Cairo; Locke, Onteora; Reffiani, Cairo; Baker, Greenville; Bremer, Onteora; Boyd, Greenville; Ondrek, Cairo.

Newark, N. J.—Charlie Norkus, 197, Jersey City, outpointed Matt Daniels, 185, New York, 8.

Fred Rice's 639 Series Best in Major League

An old timer who was a tenpin headliner before many of the modern crop were born took down high series honors in local bowling last night.

Fred Rice banged the uprights for successive counts of 203-213-223 to lead the Ferraro Major League with 639. It was the best of nine triples of six hundred in one of the loop's busiest sessions of the season.

Distaff honors went to Jennie Spada of the Central Rec Women's League with a 511 series on solos of 186, 172 and 153. Ethel Kreppel led the Sisterhood League with 181-464 and G. Hotaling topped the New Paltz Nite Cap loop with 180-502. Ellen Hutton's 193 was high single in the CRWL.

Bill Steiger paced the Electrol Night League with a 253 solo and 613 aggregate. The 253 was top single in the city.

Broskie Rolls 634

Trailing Rice by only five sticks was an erstwhile teammate, Harold Broskie, who fashioned 208-236-634 in the Major wheel. Buster Ferraro knocked off 215-201-615 and Cliff Davis matched that series with highs of 205-215.

Joe Misasi (204-213) and Frank Spada (203-224) tied with 614s and Ken Joseph powered 245, high single in the Major. Leo Bechtold toppled 204-243-602 and Whitey Crispell jarred 600 on the nose with 203-201.

Four Days Added To Hunting Season

Albany, Oct. 30 (AP)—The state's hunting seasons on grouse, squirrels and fur-bearing animals have been extended four days to make up for time lost while the woodlands were closed because of fire danger.

The Conservation Department announced the new closing dates yesterday.

Extensions of the bear, deer, pheasant and Hungarian partridge seasons were announced Wednesday shortly after Gov. Dewey lifted the ban he imposed Saturday on hunting and other use of the parched forests.

The grouse and squirrel seasons had been scheduled to end in various parts of the state Nov. 18, Dec. 9, and Dec. 18. They were extended through Nov. 22, Dec. 13, and Dec. 22 respectively.

The new closing day for mink, skunk, raccoon and otter hunting will be Feb. 4, 1954. The seasons had been set to end Jan. 31.

The season for fisher will run through Jan. 5, instead of Jan. 1.

Canadiens Dump Maple Leafs, 3-1

(By The Associated Press)

Home ice hasn't been of too much help to National Hockey League teams this year. But it's one of the reasons the Montreal Canadians are in front this early in the season.

The high-flying Canadiens dumped the Toronto Maple Leafs last night, 3-1 to take a four point lead over the second-place Detroit Red Wings. The win made it six-for-six for Montreal at home. Overall, NHL clubs have won 15 of 26 home games.

Defenseman Tom Johnson, operating at center in place of the injured Jean Beliveau, drove home two goals in the third period to give Montreal its victory. Kenny Mosdell registered the Canuck's other tally while Eric Nesterenko scored Toronto's lone marker.

Newburgh Ace Out of DUSO Meet

DUSO League cross country teams won't have to worry about Newburgh Academy's gifted Franklyn Russell in tomorrow's annual championships at Monticello.

The slick running Negro is bedded with a virus attack and his absence makes the race a wide open affair.

John McClelland of Middletown High is tabbed as the likely first place winner. McClelland's only defeat this year was by Russell in a Newburgh-Middie meet.

Middletown High, undefeated in dual meets, will be favored to win the team title. Kingston High is rated an outside chance.

Basketball Clinic

The annual basketball rules interpretation clinic will be held Monday, Nov. 2, 7:45 p. m., at the Poughkeepsie YMCA. Area coaches and players are invited.

Mantle Operation Scheduled Monday

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—New York Yankee hopes for a sixth straight American League pennant may hinge on an operation to take place in Springfield, Mo., next Monday.

Mickey Mantle, whose right knee has been giving him trouble since he pulled a cartilege in the second game of the '51 World Series, will have the injured member operated on by Dr. Dan Yancey, a specialist.

The surgery will take place at Berge Hospital in Springfield, Roy Hamey, the Yankees' assistant general manager, said yesterday.

Araujo Meets Red Top Davis

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—The honeymoon is over for newlywed George Araujo, the Providence, R. I., fighting man.

Jimmy Carter's right hand ruined the shiny dreams of becoming lightweight champion of the world at the age of 22. That was his last Madison Square Garden fight. A Sept. 10 defeat at Boston by the veteran Teddy (Red Top) Davis rubbed much of the luster off his fine record.

Now Araujo starts all over again in a third match with Davis. The 10-rounder at 10 p. m. (EST) will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC).

Since the last Davis fight, Araujo was married. Now he goes back to work in a rugged test that could be a turning point in his career.

The narrowing odds favoring Araujo at 8 to 5 overlook his upset by Davis at Boston, in his first fight after his 13th round technical knockout by Carter. In 54 fights, since 1948, Araujo has a 49-4-1 record. He was stopped only once, by Carter.

Local Archers Cop Two Firsts

Joe Heidcamp broke 28 targets for a 257 point total to win first place in the Bowmen's division of the Bedford Hills shoot last weekend.

Another member of the Kingston Archery Club, Rose Rhymer, placed third in the Open class for women, with 28 targets for 56 points.

Members of the archery club will hold their annual banquet and prize presentation Wednesday, Nov. 4.

KHS Eleven Idle

Kingston will be without a football game for the second straight weekend Saturday, when the KHS squad rests after a continuous five-week run. A game previously scheduled between the Kingston and Poughkeepsie JVs has been canceled. Kingston's varsity resumes on Nov. 7 with Lawrence High of Long Island at municipal stadium.

Is Low Bidder

James H. Stoutenburgh, of Glenford, was low bidder at $2,939 for the digging of a driven well for the farm colony at the Institution for Male Defective Delinquents at Napanoch, it was announced today. Bids on this and for 11 other repair and alteration projects on state-owned facilities were opened in Albany yesterday.

Testimony Heard In Damages Case

A stock racing car towed by Elwyn Dennis of Kyserike had stopped on Route 302 on September 27, 1952, to extinguish a fire which had been discovered in the racer being towed to the race at Middletown when Leon Serpentine of Pine Bush, is said to have crashed into the racing car from the rear and struck Millard Cox of Kerhonkson and Miss Marie Trowbridge of Kingston who stood near the racer.

Witnesses testified the car was fully on the pavement at the time and that the only light on the stock car was a red light on the left side near the door. A blazing rag had been thrown from the car to the pavement on the left of the car just prior to the accident.

Serpentine claims he had dimmed his headlights when a car approached and did not see the parked racer until he was a short distance away, his low beam headlights not disclosing the car in the face of the oncoming car. He claims he did not see the people and turned to the right off the highway to the shoulder to avoid the car.

Both Take Stand

Cox and Miss Trowbridge, plaintiffs in their actions against Dennis and Serpentine, both took the stand Thursday. Cox testified he was thrown to the ground and sustained injuries to his back, arms and leg but was not seriously injured. Miss Trowbridge said she did not recall anything which happened after she alighted from the Dennis car and went back to "see what was going on" at the fire. She next remembers being in Middletown Hospital a week later.

After the accident she was found twisted about the rear wheel of the Dennis car some distance from where she stood by the stock car. She had a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, a broken leg and numerous cuts on the head, abrasions and contusions and was hospitalized for several weeks. She did not return to work until January 1953 and stated she now suffers from double vision and also is being treated for an injury to her body from which fluid must be extracted.

Dr. Shea Testifies

Dr. Edward F. Shea, attending physician testified to her injuries and condition and said she had made a good recovery considering the seriousness of the injuries.

Bills of the hospital, physicians and nurses were agreed upon by counsel.

Dr. Herbert Martin, who treated Miss Trowbridge for her eye difficulty, stated she had normal vision usually but did have double vision when she looked up. He demonstrated to the jury the visual evidence of this in court when he had Miss Trowbridge stand before the jury and conducted a test which indicated one eye was higher than the other due to muscular difficulty which he said could have come from a blow or a sprained muscle.

Elwyn Dennis was on the stand late in the day and testified that he had stopped the cars on the road when an emergency arose following his information that a fire was burning in the stock car.

The action in which Miss Trowbridge seeks to recover $75,000 was continued today before Justice Taylor and a jury in Supreme court.

N. Le Van Haver appears for plaintiffs and Cashin & Ewig for Dennis. Serpentine is represented by Andrew J. Cook, Jr.

Southern Golfer Favored in Seniors

Pinehurst, N. C., Oct. 30 (AP)—Donald D. Cooke of Pinehurst was the sentimental favorite here today in the semi-finals of the North and South Seniors golf championships.

Cooke has won the Seniors' championship at the host Pinehurst Country Club for the past three years. He met D. W. Hill of Cincinnati, Ohio, on today's feature match. Two New York city golf veterans, O. V. Russell and J. H. Ackerman, met in the other semi-final.

Cooke trimmed T. J. Ahern of Houston, Tex., 3 and 2, yesterday. Hill eliminated his fellow townsman and tourney "giant-killer"—DeWitt Balch, 5 and 3. Earlier, Balch had beaten two former U. S. Seniors champions, Tom Robbins of Larchmont, N. Y., and J. H. Wells of Newell, Va.

Four Days Added To Hunting Season

Albany, Oct. 30 (AP)—The state's hunting seasons on grouse, squirrels and fur-bearing animals have been extended four days to make up for time lost while the woodlands were closed because of fire danger.

The Conservation Department announced the new closing dates yesterday.

Extensions of the bear, deer, pheasant and Hungarian partridge seasons were announced Wednesday shortly after Gov. Dewey lifted the ban he imposed Saturday on hunting and other use of the parched forests.

The grouse and squirrel seasons had been scheduled to end in various parts of the state Nov. 18, Dec. 9, and Dec. 18. They were extended through Nov. 22, Dec. 13, and Dec. 22 respectively.

The new closing day for mink, skunk, raccoon and otter hunting will be Feb. 4, 1954. The seasons had been set to end Jan. 31.

The season for fisher will run through Jan. 5, instead of Jan. 1.

Troopers Will Get Promotions Nov. 1

Superintendent Albin S. Johnson of the New York State Police yesterday announced promotion of 21 state troopers, effective Sunday, November 1. On the list of promotions six sergeants were boosted to lieutenant, two to first sergeants, four corporals are elevated to sergeants and nine new corporals were named. None of the men stationed locally were included in this list.

There have been several promotions in this area, which is served by "C" Troop, recently including Corporal Bernard J. Herron who was in command of the Kingston station some time ago. Corporal Herron was promoted to sergeant and stationed at Ferndale. Other promotions are expected within the local troop shortly.

Included in the list of promotions announced Thursday was the transfer of Sergeant Francis W. Hilfrank, now a member of "C" Troop to "G" Troop. Sergeant Hilfrank, born in Montana but for many years a resident of Greene county, has been in command of the Kingston, Ellenville, Ferndale and Margaretville stations. It is expected he will be given charge of either the Catskill or Claverack state police stations.

Stock Exchange Votes Higher Commissions

New York, Oct. 30 (AP) — Members of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday voted to increase commission rates they charge for buying or selling securities.

The vote was 639 for and 530 against with three defective ballots. The increase, to become effective Nov. 9, is calculated to produce 18 per cent more commission revenue. It is the first change since November, 1947.

Commissions are based on the money value of the stock traded. The present minimum commission of $6 for each transaction remains unchanged.

Driver Is Arrested After Accident in Which 2 Are Hurt

One driver was arrested after one of two city traffic mishaps in which two persons were slightly injured yesterday.

Ulie B. Brinkley, 33, of 98 South Manor avenue, was arrested on a charge of operating without a license and for alleged failure to observe a stop sign after a two-car collision at Downs street and Foxhall avenue at about 3:55 p. m.

Officers Earl Schoonmaker and William Slover said the sedan of Harry Kushner, of 28 Stuyvesant street, was headed south on Foxhall avenue and the Brinkley car was going north on Downs street when they collided. Bertha A. Kushner, 45, was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of an injury to the left arm. Her condition was reported today as "fairly good."

The officers arrested Brinkley on the charge that he had no operator's license and Kushner arrested him on the other charge. Kushner's car was damaged on the right side and rear, and the other on the front fender and bumper, the officers said.

Case Is Put Over

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today put Brinkley's case over until tomorrow morning to allow him time to obtain counsel.

Emma L. Fuhard, of New Paltz, was taken to the Benedictine Hospital for treatment of shock after the other mishap at W. O'Reilly street and Wilbur avenue at about 5:25 p. m.

Officers Schoonmaker and Slover said the sedan of Homer Van Aken, 59, of 15 Lucas avenue, was headed east on West O'Reilly street, and the sedan driven by Emma L. Fuhard was going west on West O'Reilly street.

The report said the garage of Herbert Walker, 190 Wilbur avenue, was moved about a foot off its foundation and its doors were damaged. Also concrete posts and shrubbery were damaged.

"Dick has never been accused of anything except violation of the McCarran Act, which I understand was designed to keep crooks, cranks and Communists out of America," Rita continued.

"They don't take into consideration the fact that he withdrew his exemption."

Cambi Accused Of Labor Violation

New York, Oct. 30 (Special)—A complaint was filed in Federal Court here Thursday by James P. Mitchell, as U. S. Secretary of Labor, accusing Elias Cambi, doing business as Primrose Sportswear of 76 Broadway, Kingston, of underpaying employes in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Troopers Will Get Promotions Nov. 1

Superintendent Albin S. Johnson of the New York State Police yesterday announced promotion of 21 state troopers, effective Sunday, November 1. On the list of promotions six sergeants were boosted to lientenant, two to first sergeants, four corporals are elevated to sergeants and nine new corporals were named. None of the men stationed locally were included in this list.

There have been several promotions in this area, which is served by "C" Troop, recently including Corporal Bernard J. Herron who was in command of the Kingston station some time ago. Corporal Herron was promoted to sergeant and stationed at Ferndale. Other promotions are expected within the local troop shortly.

Included in the list of promotions announced Thursday was the transfer of Sergeant Francis W. Hilfrank, now a member of "C" Troop to "G" Troop. Sergeant Hilfrank, born in Montana but for many years a resident of Greene county, has been in command of the Kingston, Ellenville, Ferndale and Margaretville stations. It is expected he will be given charge of either the Catskill or Claverack state police stations.

Stock Exchange Votes Higher Commissions

New York, Oct. 30 (AP) — Members of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday voted to increase commission rates they charge for buying or selling securities.

The vote was 639 for and 530 against with three defective ballots. The increase, to become effective Nov. 9, is calculated to produce 18 per cent more commission revenue. It is the first change since November, 1947.

Commissions are based on the money value of the stock traded. The present minimum commission of $6 for each transaction remains unchanged.

Driver Is Arrested After Accident in Which 2 Are Hurt

One driver was arrested after one of two city traffic mishaps in which two persons were slightly injured yesterday.

Ulie B. Brinkley, 33, of 98 South Manor avenue, was arrested on a charge of operating without a license and for alleged failure to observe a stop sign after a two-car collision at Downs street and Foxhall avenue at about 3:55 p. m.

Officers Earl Schoonmaker and William Slover said the sedan of Harry Kushner, of 28 Stuyvesant street, was headed south on Foxhall avenue and the Brinkley car was going north on Downs street when they collided. Bertha A. Kushner, 45, was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of an injury to the left arm. Her condition was reported today as "fairly good."

The officers arrested Brinkley on the charge that he had no operator's license and Kushner arrested him on the other charge. Kushner's car was damaged on the right side and rear, and the other on the front fender and bumper, the officers said.

Case Is Put Over

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today put Brinkley's case over until tomorrow morning to allow him time to obtain counsel.

Emma L. Fuhard, of New Paltz, was taken to the Benedictine Hospital for treatment of shock after the other mishap at W. O'Reilly street and Wilbur avenue at about 5:25 p. m.

Officers Schoonmaker and Slover said the sedan of Homer Van Aken, 59, of 15 Lucas avenue, was headed east on West O'Reilly street, and the sedan driven by Emma L. Fuhard was going west on West O'Reilly street.

The report said the garage of Herbert Walker, 190 Wilbur avenue, was moved about a foot off its foundation and its doors were damaged. Also concrete posts and shrubbery were damaged.

"They don't take into consideration the fact that he withdrew his exemption."

Cambi Accused Of Labor Violation

New York, Oct. 30 (Special)—A complaint was filed in Federal Court here Thursday by James P. Mitchell, as U. S. Secretary of Labor, accusing Elias Cambi, doing business as Primrose Sportswear of 76 Broadway, Kingston, of underpaying employes in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Pledges Made By FitzGerald

At a Democratic rally held Thursday evening, Gerald E. FitzGerald, Democratic candidate for mayor, outlined briefly some of the things that he would do if elected. The following were included in his remarks:

First: I will be a public servant who will devote his full time and energy to the office of Mayor, and to the discharge of the official duties of the Chief Executive of your city.

Second: I will press at once for the completion of an up-to-date incinerator. This would eliminate once and for all the city dumps; we could thus utilize without delay the foundation already built.

Third: I will work toward the development of a plan to utilize sludge from the present disposal plant. Sewage sludge has been sold for commercial fertilizer in many cities. This has been a source of revenue for those cities. It has fully paid for the operation of their disposal plants without cost to the taxpayer. In 1952 the operation of our disposal plant cost more than $25,000. If we could save the taxpayers a substantial part of that sum we will have accomplished a great deal.

Fourth: I will recommend formulation of plans for a municipal swimming pool. I will recommend the use of municipal facilities, such as the municipal auditorium, as a place where young people could meet and dance. If we could offer some positive means of clean, healthy recreation and entertainment for our young people, we would be going a great deal toward building a better Kingston.

Fifth: I will definitely oppose the sale of any source of our water supply, or any other city owned property, without full and complete investigation of all facts, and unless I am firmly convinced that such sale would benefit the citizens of Kingston.

Sixth: I will propose the amendment and revision of those sections of our city charter which are outmoded. Not by any expensive referendum, however. I will ask the Corporation Counsel to recommend the necessary changes in a form suitable for submission to the Common Council.

Seventh: I will consult with the Board of Public Works, businessmen and citizens, to devise a systematic means for the repair of streets. The re-surfacing and major repair of streets must be done in such a way as to cause the least amount of interference with traffic and business.

These are some of the matters that I will work for. Of course, I will also make recommendations to you concerning improvements that could be made in the operation of our city government.

Ladies and gentlemen, I am not, nor do I pretend to be, a politician. And yet you do not have to be a politician to realize that the leadership of the Republican Party in this county has lost the respect and confidence of its own party. The present Republican leadership surely does not reflect the true character of the majority of the members of the Republican Party. It surely does not reflect the ideals of Abraham Lincoln, nor even the late Philip Elting, who was deeply respected by everyone.

It is only fair that such a leadership be repudiated. The one way you can repudiate such leadership is by voting against their candidates. I appeal most strongly to the Republicans in the City of Kingston. I seek your support. I will appreciate your help. With your assistance I believe we can insure the return to a two-party system of government.
